Churchill Makes Protest Against Sea Commander

Opposes Selection Of American Admiral To Head Sea Forces

(BULLETIN)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Former Prime Minister Winston Churchill vigorously protested today against the nomination of American Vice-Admiral William M. Flechteler, as supreme sea commander of the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

Churchill told the House of Commons that in view of the appointment of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as supreme commander, Great Britain is entitled to command on the sea, especially in the light of its long career as a great naval power.

Churchill launched his attack to the cheers of conservatives immediately after Prime Minister Attlee announced the American admiral's selection.

"Isn't there a British admiral capable of discharging these functions?" Churchill asked.

"Why, when our experience is longer and wider than that of any country and when we have agreed to Gen. Eisenhower as land commander, should we have to resign claims to command of the sea?"

Best Appointment

Attlee replied that Fechteler is "generally acceptable as the best appointment." The cry then arose from conservative benches:

"Where is British leadership?"

Churchill emphasized that he is "not hostile" to the United States, but added:

"I do not think that Britain should have fallen so far into the

'We Will Win The Global Struggle With Communism'

—GEN. OMAR N. BRADLEY

VALLEY FORGE, Pa., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, declared today he is convinced "we will win the global struggle with communism for freedom's eternal survival."

Gen. Bradley, officiating at the Freedom Foundation's $100,000 awards ceremonies at Historic Valley Forge on Washington's birthday, told a distinguished audience:

"In this righteous crusade, we shall succeed. And all those nations, joined with us in spirit and in action, will remain alive and free."

Mine Workers Still Protesting

About 21,000 Idle In Northern Part Of West Virginia

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Feb. 22.—(INS)—All coal mining operations in northern West Virginia were shut down for the fourth day today by 21,000 United Mine Workers protesting a bill proposed in the state legislature.

The bill, which would permit section foremen to double as fire bosses, was slated for action in the House of Representatives in Charleston today. The senate already has passed the bill. The miners favor separating the two jobs.

Harry Bennett, secretary-treasurer of UMW district 31, said he believes the miners will not work the rest of the week regardless of the house action.

Miners in southern West Virgirginia are threatening to join the protest strike if the bill passes.

One of Bethlehem Steel's captive mines was scheduled to be reopened by agreement with the union, but roving pickets appeared on the scene and the miners refused to go in.

Resignation Of Margiotti Forecast

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The "great cabinet crisis" starring Charles J. Margiotti as attorney general is as full of suspense today as it was when it started its run on Capitol Hill.

Just when the cabinet thriller will come to an end is not known.

Margiotti, whose resignation is predicted daily, told newsmen last night that he will step aside "before, on or after April 1".

He refused comment when asked if he will quit the $15,000 a year post March 1 as forecast by senate executive committee chairman Edward B. Watson (R) Bucks.

He was equally silent on senate minority leader John H. Dent's prediction yesterday that he would resign within 24 hours.

Sees Long-Range Bomber Force First Priority

U.S. Air Defense Commander Gives Ideas To Committee

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—Lieut. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, U. S. air defense commander, told congress today that a long-range bomber force to strike a swift counter-blow at any aggressor is the nation's "first priority" in defense.

Whitehead testified before the senate foreign relations and armed services committees that this and an adequate air defense to protect the striking force at home are the primary requirements of the military situation.

Ground Forces Needed

He conceded that ground forces and naval power are needed to "win a war" but insisted that priority should go to the air strength.

Whitehead said that he has "confidence" in the joint chiefs of staff who approved sending an additional four divisions of U. S. ground troops to western Europe.

Rural Carriers Find Going Tough

Patrons of rural mail routes in Lawrence county are asked by Postmaster William R. Hanna to keep the entrances to their mail boxes in a passable condition.

Yesterday, two carriers on rural routes became stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out before they could continue with their deliveries.

The winter has been a hard one on rural carriers. First the tremendous snow prevented the carriers from making deliveries for some time.

Then followed a period when the roads were covered with a sheet of ice for days at a stretch, and now the ground has thawed out followed by continued rains, making roads, especially dirt roads, almost impassable.

Patrons are asked to fill the approaches to their boxes with stones or cinders, so that the carriers can drive up to them.

New Draft Bill To Be Presented In House Today

Rep. Vinson Plans To Introduce New Draft Legislation

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Chairman Vinson of the House Armed Services committee today introduced a draft bill providing for induction of 18 and one-half year-old youths but banning combat duty until they reach 19.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., plans to introduce today a bill which may set the pattern for new draft legislation this year.

The bill provides for the induction of men aged 18½ with a proviso that none shall be sent into combat before they are 19.

This, the most important provision in the bill, commands strong support within Vinson's House Armed Services Committee and is expected to receive its approval.

Hopes For Compromise

The committee chairman confidently expects that the House will agree to this compromise and there are strong indications that the Senate will eventually follow suit.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved a bill which goes along with Defense Secretary Marshall's request for a draft of 18-year-olds, but limits it by providing there shall be no inductions until local boards have exhausted their 19 through 25 manpower pools.

However, sentiment within the House Committee, and probably the House also, appears overwhelmingly in favor of a ban on the use of 18-year-olds in combat and members would not be surprised if a similar prohibition was written into the Senate bill.

The House Committee may complete its closed-door deliberations on Vinson's new bill today. In any

U.N. Committee To Seek Ways To End Korean War

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 22.—The United Nations' new "Good Offices" committee moved slowly and in secrecy today in its attempt to explore ways to end the Korean conflict through peaceful negotiations.

The committee, comprising assembly president Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, Sven Grafstroem of Sweden and Dr. Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico, gave no intimation of the steps they are contemplating to make some kind of a contact with Mao Tse-Tung, leader of Red China.

Factors that may prove helpful to the committee in its difficult job are:

Some Of Developments

1.—The possibility that the Korean war is developing into a stalemate, with neither Communist China nor Gen. Douglas MacArthur's unified command seemingly willing to import enough additional troops to drive out the other.

2.—The fact the United Nations military forces have no immediate intention of pushing across the 38th parallel into North Korea.

3.—The realization by Mao that his Korean adventure is chewing up Communist China's best troops and that the more soldiers he pours in the heavier will be his casualties which are mounting at an alarming rate.

Action Conjectural

What kind of "feelers" the Good Offices committee will put out to Mao is, at this stage, con-

R.F.C. Director Denies Charges On 'Influence'

Never Yielded To Influence In Any Respect He Says

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Reconstruction Finance Corporation Director William Willett went before senate investigators today to deny as "baseless" charges that he was easy prey for "influence peddlers".

Willett conceded in sworn testimony that he and "everyone in government service" has been subjected to influence "and probably on occasion to improper influence". But he declared:

Never Yielded

"I have never consciously yielded to influence in any respect".

Willett, one of the five RFC directors, appeared before the subcommittee headed by Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark., before the return to the stand of E. Merl Young, who is accused of influence selling and whose wife is a White House secretary.

The RFC director denied that he has been influenced or "dominated" by Donald Dawson, President Truman's personnel adviser, or Young. Concerning Dawson, Willett said:

"As to the implication that he has influenced or dominated me, I state categorically that he cannot influence my decision in any manner in connection with any RFC loan."

Regarding Young, he declared:

Senate Probe Is Asked Of Charges In Mississippi

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—Mississippi's battle between pro-Truman and states-rights Democrats flared today with the charge of Sens. Eastland (D) and Stennis (D) that administration forces are "selling" jobs.

They charged that the recently-formed "Mississippi Democratic Committee" is requiring party contributions equivalent to 10 per cent of the first year's salary from recipients of jobs.

The two senators said that contractors are paying $200 merely to get their names on an "eligible" list.

Bus Co. Terminal Fire Destroyed

LARGE, Pa., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Damage was estimated today at half a million dollars in a spectacular fire that destroyed a block-long terminal and garage and 32 of 50 buses of the Noble J. Dick Bus Company of Large.

Despite the speed with which the flames enveloped and building housing offices, shops and other facilities of the bus company, only one person was injured.

He was Hugh Chalfant, 50, who suffered burns on the face and hands when he attempted to move a bus to safety.

The blaze broke out about 8:30 p. m. last night and raged out of control for several hours despite efforts of 10 fire companies, volunteers and company employes to combat it.

The 70-foot wide, 300-foot long building was a total loss.

Resistance In Western Sector Reported Heavy

Troops Of Five Allied Nations In New Offensive

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Feb. 23—(Friday)—The United Nations "Killer" offensive rolled northward on Korea's Central front Friday without opposition except in one area as two fresh American divisions joined the drive.

In the eastern sector one American unit advanced as much as 12 miles without encountering the enemy but in the western part of the offensive area U.S. troops ran into heavy resistance.

Hunt Down Enemy

Troops of five Allied Nations totaling upwards of 90,000 men jumped off in the new offensive to hunt down enemy forces estimated at 40,000 Red soldiers.

An army spokesman said there was no report of enemy contact in the entire Tenth Corps area of the muddy central front but in the Ninth Corps zone a stiff fight developed six miles northeast of the Chipyong-Hongchon road.

International News Service War Correspondent Frank Conniff reported in a dispatch at 10:25 o'clock Thursday night (8:25 a.m. EST) that new American divisions joined the offensive in its second day.

Gain 10 to 12 Miles

Conniff reported that one American unit gained ten to twelve miles north of Chechon in the east flank sector of the central front and found no enemy opposition.

To the northwest in the Chipyong area, Conniff said, another American division engaged an estimated Red battalion after an advance of four an a half miles.

The two UN Corps engaged in the offensive were estimated to number at least 90,000 men.

Calls For Federal Basketball Probe

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Senate crime committee chairman Kefauver angrily called today for a federal probe of basketball and said there are indications gamblers have moved in on the game on a nationwide "syndicate" basis.

The Tennessee Democrat disclosed that his group already is looking into the basketball gambling racket and will now step up its inquiry.

But he pointed out that his group is due to expire March 31 and urged that a permanent federal agency be set up to look into gambling and other types of interstate crime

Kefauver said that so far his committee's concern with the basketball situation has been a probe of basketball "pools", allegedly operating on an interstate basis.

But the crime prober bluntly declared that the growing number of disclosures over basketball "fix" attempts indicate that gamblers have moved in on the game on a nationwide basis.

Physicians Are Swamped With Calls In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22 —(INS)—Physicians were swamped with calls throughout the Philadelphia area today as 63 new cases of influenza and five additional deaths were reported by City Health Director Rufus S. Reeves.

The new figures brought the total cases since January 1 to 479, including 13 deaths. During the same period last year, there were only 12 cases with three fatalities.

The five additional deaths reported by Dr. Reeves today were the highest number reported in one day in the current outbreak.

Yesterday 139 cases of the disease were reported in the worst single-day outbreak since the flu epidemic of 1918.

Several parochial schools in the city and the south Jersey area are closed due to widespread illness of pupils and instructors.

jectural. In some quarters it was assumed the Swedish representative in Peiping, Torsten Hammarstrom, might be asked to contact the Mao regime and report back in a roundabout way to Grafstroem, the Swedish member of the committee.

There is also the suggestion that the committee may ask Mao to send a representative to Lake Success to talk the situation over. Such a move would put Mao on record as to whether he recognizes the newly-formed committee.

Mao has crawled into his shell and broken off contacts with U. N. ever since the world organization formally branded Communist China the aggressor.

Delegates at Lake Success point out that the situation in Korea today is worse for Mao than it was during the strategic U. N. withdrawal from the Manchurian border—a withdrawal which prompted Mao's previous rejection of United Nations overtures for a peaceful settlement.

British Advance

British forces, taking part in "Operation Killer" as the new offensive is called, advanced to a point six miles east of Chipyong without any opposition.

Air observers, however, reported a strong new enemy concentration in an area six miles northeast of Chipyong and sharper fighting was anticipated as Allied troops neared prepared enemy defense positions.

On the eastern anchor of the central front, near Pyongchang, an enemy force of 500 troops was observed moving north.

Despite torrential rains which made the going heavy, Allied units made gains of more than eight and a half miles by mid-morning Thursday, when the downpour ceased.

The Eighth Army announced that in the first day of the offensive Wednesday 1,718 enemy troops were killed, wounded or captured. A special communique from General MacArthur said enemy casualties up until six o'clock Thursday morning totaled more than 2,100.

To Kill Communists

The Eight Army announced the offensive on the mountainous central front was designed to "kill as many Communists as possible" rather than merely gain ground.

On the extreme western front near Seoul where action had been reported light, enemy troops within the national capital opened up with anti-tank and mortar fire on Allied positions in Yondungpo just across the Han river.

To the southeast in the Kyonggan area, 18 miles from the capital, air spotters observed an estimated 3,000 enemy troops.

Warplanes Out in Force

With the clearing weather Thursday, UN warplanes were out in force and claimed that more than 700 enemy troops were killed in 400 sorties up until nightfall.

Superforts blasted enemy targets behind the lines in North Korea and unloaded 188 tons of bombs on Pyongyang, the enemy capital.

The B-29 pilots said they ran into some flak at Pyongyang and also spotted enemy fighters which flew north without attacking the bombers.

The new ground offensive was launched by troops of five Allied nations on the 50-mile wide central front in an area where Communist troops were still licking their wounds from a crushing defeat last week. The "Killer" offensive line extends from Yangpyong, former Chinese Communist supply base 22 miles east of Seoul on the Han river, to the Pyongchang area east of the pivotal road and rail hub of Wonju.

quiry on grounds that they, too, have had reports of trafficking in jobs.

Eastland told a reporter that he and Stennis and the House delegation, along with what Eastland termed "the regular Democratic party" in Mississippi have been ignored on federal patronage.

In a Senate speech Eastland produced affidavits from a man who said he had been offered—and turned down—a county price control directorship at $400—and a letter carrier who said he paid $150 to keep his job, but didn't keep it.

The affidavits of W. Denny Russ said he was asked to make a $400 check payable to the "National Democratic Committee." But Eastland thought Russ was mistaken and that the check was to go to "The Mississippi Democratic Committee."

The "Mississippi Democratic Committee," Eastland said, "was set up by the National Democratic Committee and is its instrumentality." He said it "dispenses all federal jobs."

At Democratic headquarters, a spokesman said that no state committee is "officially" recognized in Mississippi. The committee has appointed a national committeeman, Clarence Hood, to set one up, he said.

Still functioning, Eastland said, is the "regular" and anti-Truman Democratic Committee, which the senator said was "elected by Mississippi Democrats."

"Planes are not coming as fast as I thought they would. You can't do much fighting with planes on order."

He declared that the greatest deterrent to aggression by any nation is "our long-range striking force". Whitehead explained:

"No. 1 priority for the security of our country is the maintenance of a long-range striking force powerful enough if we are attacked to conduct a decisive counter-offensive against the industrial power of any nation which attacks us.

"The next priority is to maintain a minimum defense posture required to prevent our long-range striking force being 'taken out' on its bases and to protect the industrial potential of our country."

Whitehead said today's defense force is not capable of providing a "minimum defense". Likewise, he said the strategic striking force should be "beefed up".

CANADA'S FORESTS

OTTAWA—The forest area of Canada is approximately 1,220,405 square miles.

Poultry And Eggs In Storage Higher In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—A state department of agriculture report today listed January declines in Pennsylvania dairy and apple stocks but an increase in poultry and shell eggs in cold storage.

Apples in storage houses dropped 336,000 bushels to 658,000 during the month while creamery butter holdings dipped 173,000 pounds during the month to a total of 862,000 pounds at the end of January. Fluid cream declined 77,000 pounds to 356,000 while American cheese holdings fell 602,000 pounds to 967,000.

Poultry in storage jumped 1,064,000 pounds during the month to a total of 12,386,000 while shell eggs advanced from an unusually low level of 1000 cases of 30 dozen each to 3000 cases by the end of January, according to the department.

Meanwhile, the state farm show commission announced that premium checks totaling $25,950 have been sent to winners in livestock display contests during the 1951 fair exposition.

Car And Truck Production Is At High Rate

DETROIT, Feb. 22—INS—Automotive news reported that car and truck production this week is being pushed to an annual rate of more than 10 million vehicles.

The trade publication said plants are "racing to recoup recent rail strike losses and build as many vehicles as possible" before more stringent material restrictions take effect April 1.

Production this week was estimated at 146,139 cars and 32,057 trucks for a total of 178,196 units. This compares with last week's 138,087 cars and 31,163 trucks—a total of 169,250 vehicles.

Automotive News said this week's output will be the best so far this year and "compares well with some of the best weekly totals obtained in last year's record-breaking production performance."

HADASSAH FASHION SHOW TO BE TUESDAY

New Castle Chapter of Hadassah are preparing for their fashion show of clothes made in Israel, which is slated to be held Tuesday evening, February 27.

The event will be at 8 p.m. in Temple Israel, with the program chairman, Mrs. Pierson Caplan, in charge.

Members of the audience will see and appreciate, on this date, evening and daytime frocks made by graduates of the Alice L. Selgsberg Trade School for girls. This is the only Institute of its kind which is operated by Hadassah since 1943.

This school is part of the Brandeis Vocational Center located in the Holy City. There are 25 students enrolled at present in the fashion institute class, divided equally by boys and girls. These students have demonstrated a special flair for costume designing. Most of the youths are veterans of the Israel army and some of the children have entered the Jewish state under the Youth Aliyah movement, with Hadassah as the official American representative.

Local women of Hadassah will serve as the fashion models for the evening. President, Mrs. Irving Nixon will preside. Mrs. Ted Marlin is the hospitality chairman of the evening.

W.S.C.S. PROGRAM AT FIRST METHODIST

Circles 4 and 8 of the W.S.C.S. of the First Methodist church, of which Mrs. Harry Lockley and Mrs. Walter N. Fulkerson are leaders, were hosts to member and guests at their meeting Tuesday evening at the church, with a large crowd in attendance.

Mrs. Chester Dean gave a splendid review of the book "Until the Day Break," by Sally Lee Bell, thrilling her audience with her dramatic description of the publication.

In conclusion, delicious refreshments were served by the members of the circles.

WALMO KENSINGTON OBSERVES HOLIDAY

An attractive patriotic theme was carried out in the unusual decorations when members of the Walmo Kensington club met at the home of Mrs. Howard Humphrey, Orchard Way, Walmo, Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. R. A. Stevenson assisted the hostess in serving dainty refreshments, with miniature red, white and blue baskets marking each place setting at the table. A memorable scene in Washington's life topped the large cake which centered the dining table, with an arrangement of red, white and blue balloons as an additional feature of the decorations.

An informal afternoon was enjoyed by the group, with a short business meeting being held. The club voted to buy a membership in the Y.W.C.A.

The next meeting will be held March 21 at the home of Mrs. Thomas Nesbitt, Walmo.

RHODES-OLIPHANT WEDDING SATURDAY

Open church will be observed when Miss Dorothy Rhodes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhodes, 1114 Cunningham avenue becomes the bride of Ronald Oliphant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Oliphant, Berger street, on Saturday, Feb. 24, in the Wesleyan Methodist church at 6:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Cecil Oliphant will be matron of honor for the occasion, while her husband will be best man. Ushers will be Russell Rhodes and John Sarbo.

D. OF U. V. TENT 20 WILL MEET TUESDAY

Members of the Daughters of Union Veterans of Tent 20, will meet Tuesday evening, February 27, in their hall, East Washington street, at 8 o'clock.

A social hour will be featured by a "country store." New officers will preside.

QUEEN ESTHERS HAVE DINNER-PROGRAM

Queen Esther class of the Third U. P. church enjoyed a tureen dinner Tuesday evening in the church, with the social committee, consisting of Nrs. J. J. Kenehan, chairman; Mrs. William McKee, Mrs. Gurth Rapson, Mrs. Clair Uber and Mrs. William Bryan, in charge.

The program committee, composed of Mrs. William Mooney, chairman; Mrs. Findley Boyd and Miss Ann Carrick, was in charge of the entertaining program, with the junior Queen Esthers taking part. The program included: piano solo, "Parade of the Wooden Soldiers," Elvi Ann Sacripant; reading, "George Washington Was Once a Child," Craig Mooney; song, "Here Comes Peter Cottontail," Tommy Baskeyfield, accompanied by Donna McBride; piano duet, "Merry Widow Waltz," Elvi Ann Sacripant and Billy Mooney; reading, "Make-Believe House," Kathy Mooney; piano solo, "The Spinning Song," Billy Mooney; readings, "Powder Your Nose" and "At the Party," Nancy Phillis; piano solo, Donna McBride; vocal duet, "In the Garden," and "Blue Skirt Waltz," Elvi Ann Sacripant and Carol Ann McKee; reading, "O, Mother," Carol Coultas.

Group singing was enjoyed by the group, with Mrs. Findley Boyd as piano accompanist. The program committee will arrange for this evening and the decoration committee will include Mrs. Clair Uber, Mrs. William McKee and Mrs. Ralph Sacripant.

Election of officers for 1951 also took place at the meeting with the following results: president, Mrs. J. J. Kenehan; vice president, Mrs. William Mooney; secretary, Miss Pearl Colnot; assistant secretary, Mrs. Findley Boyd; treasurer, Mrs. Gurth Rapson; press reporter, Mrs. William Bryan.

CONSTITUTES NEW RAINBOW ASSEMBLY

Mrs. Charles E. Allen, of Winter avenue, Supreme Deputy of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, in Pennsylvania, was in Homestead last evening, where she formally constituted the new Homestead Assembly and presented it with its charter.

New Assemblies will be instituted in the near future in Emlenton, Bradford, and Coraopolis.

JOHN W. SHAFFERS GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Shaffer of 1007 Cunningham avenue, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary February 19 with a six o'clock dinner at their home.

The table was prettily decorated with yellow jonquils and dinner was prepared and served by the couple's sons, Earl W. of Rome, N. Y., and Chester C., of Oak Park, Ill.

The honored couple was married February 19, 1901, by Rev. Ira H. Durfee, at the parsonage of the Central Christian church, this city.

The memorable day was spent quietly owing to the serious illness of Mr. Shaffer. A few old friends called. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Martin, the latter a sister of Mrs. Shaffer, were special guests.

Greetings were received from the pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Oak Park, Ill., and from the Central Christian church and First Baptist church of New Castle and Section Three of the First Baptist church. Also congratulations were received from Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Sadler, of Salem, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. James Glasgow of Weirton, W. V., and other friends in Oak Park, Ill., and Rome, N. Y.

The L. A. B. club presented the couple with a lovely gift and the couple was the recipient of lovely floral pieces and other gifts from friends in New Castle.

EMANON BRIDGE CLUB PLANS FOR DINNER

Plans were made for a dinner party when members of the Emanon Bridge club gathered at the home of Mrs. Oliver Duvall, Fairview Heights, Wednesday evening.

Bridge was the diversion, with prizes captured by Mrs. Edward Bevans, Mrs. John Robison and Mrs. Jesse Joseph. The special guest, Mrs. William Eagan, was presented with a lovely gift from the hostess.

A tempting lunch was served by the hostess, with an arrangement of early spring flowers centering the prettily appointed table. The next meeting will be a dinner at a local tearoom on March 7.

Open Door Class

Members of the Open Door Bible class of the Croton Methodist church will enjoy a valentine party at the church on Friday evening, February 23, at 8 o'clock.

W.S.C.S. CIRCLES HOSTS AT MEETING

Women's Society of Christian Service gathered in First Methodist church Wednesday evening. Mrs. W. L. Beal led devotions, her theme being "The Health of the American Indian".

Mrs. Worrell Jones presented Mrs. Clarence Coates, leader of Circle No. 6, who introduced Mrs. Carrie Jeffry Roberts as the speaker. Mrs. Roberts spoke on "The American Indian," stressing the health, religious, recreation and social welfare standpoints. Mrs. Jones read a letter from the superintendent of schools of Farmington, N. M., telling of the Navaho Indians. Posters of Indians, drawn by Fred Bloise, were on display.

Paul Butz, who spoke on "The Red Cross Membership Drive," that is to be launched soon, gave an informative talk, telling the urgent need for this year's drive.

Mrs. Leonard Cramer presided. Mrs. Dallas Sloane gave a report of the executive committee meeting that preceded the program. Mrs. Irene Walters being named secretary of children's work and Mrs. Bessie Coates Pitzer as corresponding secretary.

Mrs. J. W. Post, secretary of spiritual life, spoke of the "Prayer Retreat" and "Call to Prayer," closing with a poem. Mrs. Post asked the members to remember the hour of 9 a. m. daily in fellowship prayer, a request of the conference officers.

Dr. A. Culmer Schultz spoke of his appreciation for the assistance in making the evangelistic campaign a success. A letter from Mrs. J. F. Rentz was read, thanking the group for courtesies shown at the World Day of Prayer service in First Methodist church.

Lunch was served in the dining room with Mrs. A. Culmer Schultz presiding at the tea service. Mrs. Clarence Coates, Mrs. Charles Hayes, Mrs. Wilbur Sloane, Mrs. W. L. Beal, Mrs. J. W. Neff, Mrs. Freas Powell and Miss Esther McIntyre, of Circle No. 6, were hostesses.

Circle No. 7 will be in charge of the March meeting with Mrs. T. McMurray as leader. A surprise feature has been planned when "Moslem Women in Drama" will also be given under the leadership of Miss Mildred Burleson.

LADIES OF KIWANIS SELECT CHAIRMEN

New Committee chairmen were selected when members of the Ladies of Kiwanis met Wednesday at The Castleton hotel for their February meeting. Luncheon was served to the group at 1:15 o'clock, with the new officers as hostesses.

Mrs. A. H. Mellor, president, conducted business, with the new chairmen including: social, Mrs. Earl Forney; program, Mrs. Kenneth Beck; welfare, Mrs. Edward Hite; membership, Mrs. Lee Marvin; public relations, Mrs. John Hodge; sunshine, Mrs. Frank Moorehead; and historian, Mrs. Abe Gonick.

Cards were the later pastime, with plans made to meet March 21 at The Castleton hotel. "Guest day" will be observed, with an auction to feature the afternoon's program. Mrs. Russell Forney has engaged a technician from the Red Cross to type the blood of members during the afternoon.

MRS. MAX MATHEWS FETED AT SHOWER

Mrs. Max Mathews, nee Lee Wolfe, a recent bride, was honored at a lovely post-nuptial shower at her home on Wilmington road given by Mrs. William Baird recently.

Fourteen guests attended the party, with television and canasta as pastimes of the evening. Prizes went to Margaret Muth, Marjory Walker, Betty Kuttesch and Betty Hudak.

The honoree was presented with an array of lovely gifts of a miscelleaneous nature.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Joseph B. Leyde. The Easter motif was carried out, with refreshments being served from a prettily arranged table centered with a lovely floral and candle arrangement.

UNION HIGH ALUMNI GROUP WILL MEET

Members of the Union High 1926-27 Alumni groups will meet Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson, of the Youngstown road.

The meeting, slated at 8 p.m. will be an informal session.

FEAR OR BRAVADO?

The Western world is still confused by Dictator Stalin's latest "interview"—and this is not surprising. Some of his statements may be read this way or that.

War, for instance, is not inevitable "at the present time." But that was last week. The world must accept Russia's terms or the United Nations will collapse. But those terms refer to China and not to the Soviet.

The most insipid remark of all is to the effect that Russia cannot be rearming because it is spending so much money in other directions.

Perhaps it is a case of wishful thinking, but many persons get the impression that Stalin is talking slightly out of fear. Certainly he has reason to be concerned. Matters in the satellite states are not going so well as they were and there are hints of disaffection in the Soviet Union.

The campaign to drive a wedge into the Western states has obviously resulted in failure. Most of the free world's statesmen see through Russia's game and are determined to put an end to it.

It is perhaps further indication of a disturbed mind that Stalin himself has now entered the list of propagandists. He has, of course, spoken before, but for the most part he has left it to his aides to do the dirty work of attacking the free world.

That he feels the time has come for the master to take a hand may not be without significance.

TIME FOR ECONOMY

From this standpoint of consumer income 1950 was the best year in the nation's history. Receipts by individuals from all sources, as reported by the Department of Commerce, rose to the fantastic figure of $223,000,000,000. This exceeded the previous record set in booming 1948 by $13,000,000,000, and was an increase of $17,000,000,000 over the previous year.

Last year closed with income at a high level, with the figure for the month of December much higher than that for the previous month. Year-end payments of dividends, which reflected high corporate earnings for the year, boosted the total.

However, principal factors in the December increase were wage and salary increases, which were general throughout the nation. Military pay was boosted by the war and the preparedness program. Consumer incomes also include net income from unincorporated business, farming operations, rents, government and private pension receipts, relief payments and other sources.

All this indicates 1950 was an unusually prosperous year for the nation on a dollars-and-cents basis. To be sure, more than $2,000,000,000 of the income reported came from insurance refunds to veterans. Government spending was also a factor.

The unhappy feature of the entire situation is the fact that the total consumer income for the year did not equal the national debt by more than $30,000,000,000. The nation is still solvent, but the time has arrived when there is need for economy in government to keep it that way.

'OLD FASHIONED' THRIFT

People of a Rhode Island community were flabbergasted when they learned that the widow of a village church caretaker, who probably never earned above $25 a week during his life, had left an estate of $100,000.

A newspaper dispatch refers to the case as a "picture of old-fashioned frugality." "Old-fashioned" seems to be the appropriate term. The couple, Alexis Gatabin, who died last year at the age of 83, and his wife, Germaine Jean Gatabin, who was 68 when her death occurred last month, "lived frugally and saved." They invested their savings in good securities and never sold any, but invested the earnings in other securities. In other words, they lived according to the axiom, "It isn't what you earn, it's what you don't spend."

Mr. and Mrs. Gatabin probably had a sternly colorless life to achieve their goal. Not many would care to discipline themselves as they did. But one wonders if so many who "never can save a cent" couldn't improve their present condition and future prospects if they would practice to at least a moderate degree some of the principles of saving and thrift exhibited in the Gatabin story.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

A-BOMB TESTS FOR RUSSIA'S BENEFIT

There is strong conviction in Washington that the series of atomic tests in Nevada recently may have been conducted to serve notice on Russia of our atomic strength as well as to experiment on new A-Bomb developments.

Observers point out that the tests were publicized more than any previous atomic blasts even though the Atomic Energy Commission clamped a security blackout on any of the details. It is noted that by holding the tests in the continental United States the AEC adopted a course which naturally would lead to wide publication of the event.

The AEC probably could have conducted the experiments just as well in its Eniwetok proving ground in the Pacific and kept them a deep secret until it chose to announce them. However, publicity may have been just what the atomic commission wanted.

The Nevada tests certainly demonstrated to Russia and the world that we have plenty of A-bombs and are busy at work improving them.

South Africa is having a wide-spread plague of snails. In fact, reports indicate, it's giving the whole country the creeps.

New Concept Of Pacific Needs

A brand new concept of military needs in the Pacific appears to be shaping up today as the exploratory mission of John Foster Dulles approaches its close.

Dulles, sent by President Truman to the Far East to study the possibility of an early peace treaty for Japan, took extraordinary opportunity of his visits to Australia and New Zealand to bring complicated matters out into the open with an almost unparalleled frankness.

He had the difficult job of reconciling the U. S. policy favoring a treaty with or without Soviet participation and the deep scars still left on the antipodes by Japanese aggression almost 10 years ago.

Protection Needed

All dispatches indicate that he made a profound impression on Australian and New Zealand leaders who feel they must have protection against three things:

1—Revived Japanese militarism.
2—Communist infiltration.
3—Development of European defenses to the exclusion of proper safeguards for the Pacific.

Dulles has outlined a formula which would prevent any new Japanese imperialism by making the islands dependent upon at least a "crust" of U. S. perimeter defense.

His plan envisages allocation of Democratic forces on a triangular basis which would ensure that there would be no break in the links of an island chain all the way from the Aleutians to New Zealand.

Sees Enthusiasm

And he was so impressed by the degree of Australian and New Zealand enthusiasm and cooperation that he was able to predict the Far Eastern commission will begin drafting a peace treaty soon after his return to Washington this coming weekend.

Dulles pointed up one great danger that he said must be overcome without loss of time if Soviet designs on Japan are to be thwarted.

This is poverty, which creates discontent and makes all peoples prey to communism.

Dulles remarks in this regard were rendered particluarly significant by a speech made in Santiago, Chile, by U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie in opening the 12th session of the economic and social council.

Must Aid Underprivileged

Lie stressed that there can be no hope of peace while two-thirds of the world live in poverty and insecurity. He said that the underprivileged must be aided if the world is to avoid "disaster."

Dulles had another salient point that has been but little emphasized in the past.

He stressed that Japan dislikes and distrusts Russia as a traditional enemy.

But he added that Japan does not automatically reject communism as it does Russia itself, and the main deterrent to growth of communism in Japan is the fact that the movement is dominated by Moscow.

Fresh Perspective

Coupled with the far brighter picture from the Korean battlefront and a presumed closing-up of the gap between the United States and Great Britain on Pacific policy, the Dulles tour has begun to throw the whole Far Eastern situation in a fresh perspective.

Doubters in Australia and New Zealand have been given ample proof that their opinions and desires are of paramount importance with regard to the future of Japan.

Those who felt that after the second world war Australian and New Zealand interests were neglected despite their enormous contributions to victory apparently now feel otherwise.

And Dulles has made it clear that when the treaty is drafted, there will be nothing in it that could be inacceptable to Russia if she truly desires to contribute to preservation of peace.

Major steps finally are being taken to place the interests and requirements of democracy on a truly global basis. If these can be meshed into the long-range future plans of the United Nations for world peace and eventual prosperity, a happier and more promising future for mankind may really be in the making.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WRITE TO YOUR SON IN SERVICE

No group of persons welcome letters more heartily from home than men in the armed forces and the nearer the fighting front they are, the more welcome are the letters. What can do more for the morale of men in the Service? Yet it costs so little effort by us back home to do this bit for our boys offering themselves in defense of our nation, our lives and our liberties. Just because they are younger and stronger than we are they "go in our places". Shame on us if we and our children don't write regularly and often to the son, father, brother or sister in uniform!

The average G. I. has parents alive, and one or more brothers and sisters. Many have grandparents, aunts and uncles. See how many letters he could receive if all these close relatives wrote him regularly at least once a week.

An Obligation

In the first place we parents need to feel an obligation to write this son or daughter) regularly, and he needs to hear from Dad as well as from Mother.

Unless we cultivate this feeling and act upon it we may let ourselves grow lax and allow long periods to pass without writing. Then no matter how we feel, the youth will suppose we don't love him so much after all. Of course, the son in Service may not get his mail regularly. But if he sees it has been postmarked pretty regularly, when it comes in bunches, he will feel reassured of our love.

How eagerly the young G. I. awaits letters from his kid brother or sister who can write, or to have something dictated from one of them, or even some little mark this child has made as a symbol of affection!

A Big Opportunity

The child old enough to write regularly to his big brother, his father or sister in the Service is losing a big opportunity to grow morally and spiritually, even to grow in more effective expression.

Dad and Mother, setting a good example by writing faithfully and regularly to the son in the Service, may be able to inspire the school-age children at home to do likewise. Sometimes the whole family might set a regular evening in the week when everyone would write. This plan would have the advantage of concerted action. A better way might be for each member of the family to mark on the calendar the day or days of each week when he will write and to check them as he has done so.

Whereas some parents may find themselves slipping and not writing often and regularly, the children can more easily put off writing. They may need to be stimulated, urged or even required to write.

Teachers, Sunday school teachers and leaders of clubs might do much to stimulate children to write faithfully to their father or big brother or sister in the Armed Forces. Clergymen should urge this matter on adults and children as a family service full of spiritual values. Of course, letters from teachers also may be very warmly welcomed by the young men in uniform; and there are many teachers—bless their hearts—who write the boys who used to be their pupils.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE GREAT AND HUMBLE

Worse off I'm sure this world would be,
And crueler the blows of fate,
Without the gracious company
Of all who never will be great.

Who'd stop to comfort the bereft
Or help some faltering youth along,
If every need of ife were left
Entirely to the wise and strong?

Take out the humble heart and mind,
Which give to life the gracious touch,
To whom then should we look to find
The thoughtful care we need so much?

'Tis simple folk who make the throng,
And choose of life the gentler side,
Who give the aid the great and strong
Are much too busy to provide.

The law does not require that you drive at the maximum speed limit, but, on the contrary, you must drive with full consideration of weather, road conditions, traffic density, the condition of your car, and other factors. Speed, or driving too fast for conditions is a factor involved in the majority of our traffic accidents.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Fifty years is a long time in anyone's book . . . however they do move swiftly by . . . as those of the golden wedding anniversary will say. Not often do we find such a pleasant thought on paper as this poem by a wife, mother and grandmother just having completed fifty years with one groom.

* * *

Fifty years of marriage
Started with a will
The down grade is easy
But, oh the pull up hill.

"Cheaper by the dozen"
Children came along,
With no "Baby sitter"
Life was one grand song.

Now, we're celebrating
The Golden Jubilee,
Since all these children
Have reached maturity.

Some cannot be with us
Circumstances interferes,
Just an expectation
Experience of the years.

Now come younger faces
Fresh and pretty too;
Forgive, If I am boasting
That will never do.

These are our grandchildren
We speak of them today;
Parents of the future
God guide them on the way.

In line comes Great Grandchildren
We look about to see,
Two in number only
Eddie and Robin Lee.

Let us all be happy
Cheerful while we may,
Thankful for the privilege
Of a "Golden Wedding Day".

Food In Munich

(By HENRY McLEMORE)

MUNICH, Feb. 22—I wrote about food yesterday and today there will be no change of pace. Just more about food.

To land in Munich after having been in London a few months ago is to wonder if the world isn't in the middle of setting an all-time record for topsy-turviness.

Munich was beaten into a pulp by bombs and is an occupied city. Yet the citizens of Munich are eating food that Englishmen haven't eaten since 1939. London papers (on sale here) tell of the minute meat ration and how almost everyone with a shotgun or rifle is taking up poaching to bag a rabbit for the family table.

Plenty To Eat

If the men, women and children of Munich aren't plump it is their own fault. In a ride about the town—still devasted from the terrific aerial attacks of Britain and the U. S.—I saw literally hundreds of shop windows piled high with eggs, ham, poultry, sausages of all sorts, and a tremendous variety of canned goods, there for the buying.

The Munich restaurants have menus which would make the mouth of Englishmen water for an hour. Such soups as Leberknodelsuppe, Schinkenknodelsuppe, and Speckknodelsuppe—clear and filled with dumplings of liver, finely chopped ham or bacon.

Meat dishes. Gedampfter Rosenspitz—loin of beef with gravy and vegetables. Rostbraton—beef fried with onions. Kalbsnierenbraten—roast veal with kidney. Weisswurste—unsmoked sausages filled with chopped raw veal and bacon; calves' heads, pigskin, lemon and parsley.

Can't Understand It

Maybe I'm extraordinarily thick-headed, but for the life of me I can't understand why in Dachau, only a few miles from Munich, the people have infinitely more to eat than do the people of Coventry, Liverpool, Manchester, or Oxford.

I don't begrudge the Germans the food, mind you. Just can't figure out the reason why.

This is a jolly city from all appearances. Always happy folk, the Bavarians haven't allowed the war to slow them down. You'd be hard pressed to find a gayer place than the celebrated Hofbrauhaus in the Platzl. It has three floors and is patronized by all classes, from the highest to the lowest.

Singing, shouting, dancing, eating and beer drinking goes on almost around the clock. Famed the world over, Munich beer is consumed in Niagara-like quantities at the Hofbrauhaus. A Bavarian who can't handle three or four gallons is a rare creature and a youngster who can't put down five or six steins is considered a sissy.

Finds Bargains

If I weren't afraid of wearing out my only good walking shoes I'd take pleasure in kicking myself around the block today. Last summer I shopped and shopped all over Switzerland to find a bargain in binoculars. Finally in Zurich, I ran across what I thought was a steal.

They weren't. Here in Munich a beautiful pair of Zeiss glasses can be had for forty-three dollars.

There may be better scissors made than those turned out by Henckels, but what's their name? So what did Jean do in Luxembourg last year but load up on scissors of all shapes and sizes, at a price triple the Munich cost.

Cameras are a great bargain, too, but never having mastered the box Brownie even, I am leaving the cameras alone. Besides, postcards are much cheaper and much prettier.

From my window I can see boys and men curling on the frozen canals. Having never curled, even in a beauty parlor, I think I'll go out and get in a game. No use bringing long underwear this far and not using it.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

President Truman is reported reading the autobiography of former President Hoover . . . Probably waiting for the chapter that starts "And then came 1932!"

But that's one of the nicest developments of Brotherhood Week . . . A Democrat reading the life and times of a Republican.

Incidentally, this Brotherhood week is a wonderful idea, but like Mother's Day it seems like one of those things that's too good to list on the calendar as a special once-a-year attraction.

Those who practice Brotherhood year-round don't need a note on their calendar pad to remind them when Brotherhood Week is due, but they're always happy to welcome company even if only for one week.

But it would look more like progress if next year we had a Brotherhood month and maybe sometime even a Brotherhood year.

Eventually maybe even a Brotherhood century! But it's up to us.

Try And Stop Me

The conductor of a famous Philadelphia orchestra accepted with equanimity the announcement that his first violinist was giving solos on the radio, endorsing cigarets, and playing for weddings and funerals, but when he heard that the violinist was opening a string of music schools throughout the state he grew concerned and summoned him for a conference.

"I like a man with ambition and initiative," he declared, "but it seems to me you're carrying things a bit far. When do you sleep?"

The violinist looked him straight in the eye and answered, "During your rehearsals, Maestro."

Congress Probes Warming Up

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—While the pace of the 82nd Congress so far as legislation goes is of the deliberate quality of a snail, the tempo of several headline-making investigations is warming up. These investigations and the black type they produce will in all probability obscure the fact that accomplishment in the first months promises to be virtually zero.

Chairman of the Senate subcommittee opening a public inquiry into methods used to bring about the election of Senator John Marshall Butler, the Republican who defeated the veteran Senator Millard Tydings in Maryland, is one of the most constientous and hard-working men in Congress. Although he is new to the Senate, Mike Monroney of Oklahoma proved in six terms in the House that he has both integrity and zeal. He says the Butler investigation is the toughest assignment yet.

Some Interesting Material

Committee investigators have turned up some interesting new material, including several sizable unreported contributions to Butler's campaign fund. One of these is now being traced back to a Detroit industrialist who has no visible connection with Maryland politics.

The total sum of contributions as put together by investigators is not, however, astronomical. It does not compare with the lavish spending disclosed in similar inquiries in the past.

But the current investigation will open up the reckless way in which various groups using a variety of phony names spread smear propaganda about Tydings. It is hoped that these disclosures will lead to a tightening of present election laws so that at the very least those responsible for such methods cannot conceal their activities. Federal election laws are so broad that they can be evaded almost at will.

Smear Campaign?

The Smear campaign against Tydings points pretty directly to Senator Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. Investigators believe he was the inspirer and the executor of most of the smears.

How the inquiry will effect Senator Butler depends on the public hearings and the reaction they produce. The odds are against the success of any move to unseat him.

Butler's friends say that when he takes his turn on the witness stand he will testify that he did not know about the cruder slanders that were being so assidiuously circulated and that if he had known he would not have permitted it. He will attribute this to the zeal of supporters such as McCarthy and others determined to "get" Tydings. This will underscore the need for responsibility to be spelled out in election laws.

Directs Probes

For many months Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee has been directing the investigation of a Senate subcommittee into organized crime in the United States. Bringing up his name at a Foreign Relations committee hearings the other day, Senator Tom Connally added, "but he isn't here, he's out chasing them crapshooters."

The Kefauver investigation has produced sensational headlines. The skeptical believe that this is about all it will produce since it is like investigating sin and the common cold; perennial evils which through the centuries have proved fairly invulnerable to the law.

Yet even if no definite legislation is adopted as a result of the crime inquiry, there is no question in my opinion that it will have served a useful purpose. Repeatedly it has revealed the sinister pattern of organized crime across the nation and the vast sums used to corrupt local law enforcement agencies. How deep down this goes was revealed by the hearings in Detroit showing the relation between gangsterism and some industries. Such publicity serves to break up the crime network and awaken the public to its menace.

Publicity Build-Up

The advance publicity build-up for a third investigation has already begun. This is the inquiry to be held by Senator Pat McCarran's committee on subversive control into the Institute of Pacific Relations. Directed by McCarthy, the committee's agents seized records of the institute stored in a farmhouse in New Hampshire and made sensational headlines in so doing.

Actually, there was nothing very secret about these records or their place of storage. Previously, a half dozen FBI men had thoroughly combed them over and had made photostats of those considered important. Those behind the investigation intend that it shall serve as a wedge to reopen the Amerasia case. But this seems likely to produce warmed-over rather than new sensations.

So at least three rings in the political circus will be going full blast. As the old saw puts it, you pays your money and you takes your choice. Whether this gets us any nearer to taking the kind of disciplinary steps so badly needed at the present moment is something else again.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

What seems to me to be an outright racket is the new bomb shelter game.

All over the country contractors and promoters are offering to build you private bomb shelters that will protect you against A-bombs, H-bombs and what-have-you bombs.

Some of the shelters even have private baths and electric kitchens. I haven't yet seen any advertised with private subterranean swimming pools—but they may come soon.

In a way I don't blame the promoters and contractors.

What with building restrictions and scarcity of materials, they find it hard to build $15,000 houses that sell for $30,000 while our peacetime-war is on.

So they resort to any expedient to make a few bucks.

But I object to anybody trying to make money out of people's fears.

There may, of course, be an atomic bomb dropped on my very typewriter while I am sitting at it.

There may also be an earthquake or a fire or a tornado.

I may be dead in five minutes from now. As a matter of fact, anybody's sudden demise by anyone of many other causes is more of a possibility than by an A-bomb on his head.

But do I have a coffin ready, just in case?

I have not.

If the contractor in my own community who is advertising bargains in bomb shelters in our local paper this week offered me one as a gift, I wouldn't take it.

If I thought the Russians would start A-bombing us next week, I wouldn't build a bomb shelter.

If I HAVE to die—which some day I shall have to anyway—I want to die like a MAN, not like a mole.

If I am going to live out my normal span—which I fully hope to do—I don't want to have a concrete underground tomb on my lot as a testimony to my cowardice.

Here we go talking and singing about our faith in God.

We believe in resurrection and a beautiful hereafter.

Why then prefer a living tomb to the beauties we are told are waiting for us at the end of the journey?

Does anybody really believe that if either God or the devil wants you, either of them won't be able to find you in a bomb shelter?

Anybody who is so much of a coward that he has to hide from a million-to-one possibility certainly is more apt to die from heart failure than from A-bomb.

Cowards don't need A-bombs to scare them to death. A mouse can do the job.

"Cowards die many times before their deaths;
The valiant never taste of death but once."

So said Shakespeare in Julius Caesar.

And one more thought: A shelter, no matter how thick, may protect you from an A-bomb.

But it can never protect you from your own cowardice.

RUSHING THE SEASON

A recent survey showed that until a couple of years ago the sucker was the most popularly sought fish in Pennsylvania. Although it has relinquished that title to the sunfish, the sucker still enjoys an astounding amount of well-earned popularity.

Anglers who enjoy getting out to fish for the sucker have had an adverse winter what with snow, sub-zero temperatures and other weather handicaps. However, if we get the breaks we deserve and may expect, the weather should open up and permit the fishermen to get in their licks.

Since much of the fishing for this common fish is done in regularly stocked trout streams, these streams will remain open to the sucker fishermen until the midnight of March 14. However, this special amendment of the fish laws does not prohibit the fishing of streams not designated as trout waters. The ban is lifted with the opening of trout season.

In Lawrence county the Neshannock creek and all of its tributaries were and still are favorite haunts of the sucker fishing gentry. One popular spot is at the so-called Junction where the Little Neshannock joins the main stream. Another good stream is at the other end of the county, the Little Beaver. Both of these creeks have clean unpolluted water and good stocks of the fish.

Elk Creek up in Erie county in the vicinity of North Girard is a favorite haunt of the large redhorse suckers indigenous to but a few streams in western Pennsylvania. This large member of a family that has numerous representatives is said to reach a weight of six or seven-pounds, although the largest example we have ever seen was just under four. When the ice is out in the spring, redhorses run upstream to spawn in schools on the riffles and shoals. When running they are frequently taken in quantity on hook and line. Elk creek also enjoys runs of the smaller but eagerly sought and tasty black sucker.

Hardy devotees of the gentle art like to get out on a day when the sun is congenial even though the air may be a bit chilly, and enjoy their sport. No activity is entailed as in trout fishing, the main requisite being to find a suitable hole, set up your tackle and then light a fire to enjoy both its warmth and tantalizing odor. In the company of two or three kindred spirits you'll have fun even if you don't catch fish.

"What do you do with the fish if you do catch any?" asked one whom we were trying to initiate into the sport.

"Why, cook and eat them."

"Eat suckers—aren't they bony?"

"Oh, they do have a lot of so-called faggot bones that might bother one if the fish is not thoroughly cooked."

Since our prospect still looked puzzled we went on to explain that if the fish is well-browned there will be little or no trouble from the fine bones.

To completely avoid the bone problem some cooks skin or scale the fish and then run the fillets through a food chopper. After adding the other necessary ingredients you'll have fish balls with nary a bone.

If you have ever cooked a buck shad you'll have no trouble with suckers. And if you enjoy broiled shad you will more than enjoy suckers prepared similarly. Suckers are not a whit more bony than shad. However, first get out and catch your fish and then worry about the cooking.

The March issue of the Pennsylvania Anglers carries a full account on sucker fishing by the writer. And while we're at it, we have a two-part Alaskan yarn called "Eagles Don't Cry," beginning in the March Fur-Fish-Game.

Make Protest On Closing Of Part Of Deshon Hospital

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Closing of approximately one-third of the 855-bed Veterans Administration hospital at Butler was protested today by the State Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The hospital has been designated a center for treatment of tubercular veterans.

State VFW Commander Louis G. Feldman said the VA's closing order was "not understandable" in view of a large number of veterans waiting for admission for treatment of TB.

Spring Planting Of Forest Trees Begins In April

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22 — Numerous municipalities and water companies throughout the state are ordering thousands of trees for reforestation as the Department of Forests and Waters mammoth tree planting program for 1951 swings into action, Forests and Waters Secretary M. F. Draemel said today.

"During the 1951 spring and fall planting season, the department will distribute 50 million forest tree seedlings, shrubs and vines for reforestation of sub-marginal farm lands, watershed protection, soil conservation and for timber production, the secretary said.

Included in the municipalities and water companies that have ordered trees from the department for spring planting are the Hanover Municipal Water Works, Hanover, with a 22,000 tree order; the Bloomsburg Water Co., Bloomsburg, 3,000; City of Bethlehem, 50,000; Roaring Creek Water Co., Shamokin, 2,500, and the Mountain Water Supply Co., Greensburg, $15,000.

"Since 1909 when the department's reforestation program first began more than 36 million trees have been sold to water companies and municipalities for watershed protection and timber production" the secertary stated.

Other communities throughout the state which have purchased trees during recent years include Uniontown, Washington, Waynesburg, New Salem and California.

DRAFT CALLS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—State Selective Service headquarters today summoned 1361 registrants for induction March 8, 13, and 14 at Pennsylvania's six induction stations.

The state's quota for the month is 5637 inductees out of the national total of 80,000.

Station quotas:

Altoona, 99, March 8; Erie, 115, March 13; Harrisburg, 188, March 8; Philadelphia, 403, March 13; Pittsburgh, 408, March 13; and Wilkes-Barre, 148, March 14.

Easter Seal Sales Drive Starts Soon

Easter Seal sales campaign for the aid of handicapped children and adults begins in Lawrence county February 25 and will continue through March 25.

The annual drive establishes funds to fulfill an unmet need of the community — the education and rehabilitation of handicapped children and adults.

The Easter Seal sale is not new to Lawrence county, however, this is the first year that the newly chartered Lawrence County Society for Crippled Children and Adults Inc. has conducted the campaign here. The local group is one of 56 such societies in the state.

Not Duplication

The program financed by Easter Seal sales does not duplicate the work of any other agency. It includes: education of the public, professional workers and parents; research to provide increased knowledge of the causes of handicapping conditions and the prevention, care, and treatment of those conditions; direct services to the handicapped including case finding, diagnostic clinics, medical care, physical therapy, occupational therapy, special teaching, camps, and provisions for braces and equipment.

Reuben J. Elliot, of Elliot Steel Corporation, has been appointed the chairman of the Easter Seal Sales campaign. He disclosed today that purchases of Easter Seals will provide services to persons afflicted by cerebral palsy, as well as victims of other disabling conditions.

All workers in the seal drive are volunteers. There are no paid local officials in the society.

Seventy per cent of the money raised here will remain in Lawrence county. Twenty per cent is allocated to the state organization for administrative and educational purposes. Most of the remaining ten per cent is used for research work.

In discussing the approaching drive Chairman Elliot noted: "The American people have recently undergone an almost complete reversal of attitude toward crippled children and adults as a result of the work of voluntary agencies offering care and treatment of the handicapped. We trust that Lawrence county will show its willingness to aid this cause."

GRANT FOR RESEARCH

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(INS)—An $8200 grant for cancer research was presented by the Damon Runyan Memorial fund today to the hospital of the University of Pennsylvania.

The presentation brought total Runyan fund gifts to the university to $51,978. It will be used to further the school's cellular investigations.

Former State Sen. Andrew J. Sordoni, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., turned the grant over to the school on behalf of columnist Walter Winchell at the request of the Runyan fund.

Farm Roundup

May Push Farm Plant Too Far

Nation's Farmland May Break Down

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The government is fearful that the nation's farmland may break down under the strain of wartime requirements.

Secretary Brannan has urged farmers to dig their fields to the hilt to produce an even greater volume of food and other farm products than the record outputs of recent years.

High-ranking agriculture department officials told International News Service that "it is highly possible" that the nation's farm plant might be pushed too far.

They say that if proper care is not used, it is possible that much of the soil could be exhausted and unprecedented dust bowls and dead land would plague the nation.

Their concern becomes more intense, they point out, when they consider that defense and wartime needs of the nation and her allies might demand soil-sapping, high-level farm production over a sustained period of many years.

One official ventured that it would be "quite possible that our farm plant could be exhausted below the danger point within 10 years."

They believe that high prices may make poor soils attractive to farmers. There is no law, they add, to prevent farmers from tilling sub-marginal lands such as the areas surrounding the southwestern dust bowl.

Many observers close to the soil, and many farmers themselves, "feel in their bones" that a recurrence of a dust catastrophe similar to that of the mid-thirties is long over-due. Officials fear the tremendous strain being put on the soil for mobilization purposes may hurry that situation.

Civil Aeronautics Administrator Donald Nyrop announces that the government's model crop dusting airplane will be ready to go into mass production by April 1.

Nyrop says the plane, built by Texas A. & M. college under a CAA contract, has been through 20 hours of test flying and is just the thing for crop dusting.

He praises the new aircraft for its economy of maintenance, high load-carrying capacity per horsepower and pilot-protective safety features.

Nyrop says that much of the increased production of cotton, corn, rice, wheat and other crops needed for defense could be obtained by more intensive use of the airplane.

Pennsylvania Has Large Supply Of Potatoes On Hand

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Federal-state surveys today showed 6,850,000 bushels of Pennsylvania potatoes on hand February 1 although January sales totaled 2,270,000 bushels.

The state department of agriculture reported the supply was "the largest amount on hand on February 1 for the past three years."

The department pointed out that Pennsylvania growers rejected federal subsidies on the 1950 crop.

Secretary Miles Horst reminded housewives that this week is "Pennsylvania potato week" and urged them to buy the low-priced spuds.

Meanwhile, the department announced that a 1950 survey disclosed an inventory value of all Pennsylvania cattle, hogs, sheep, horses and mules of $356,478,000. The value of chickens and turkeys raised the inventory value to $405,309,000 or 13 per cent above the previous year.

During the year, the department reported, the number of sheep increased 4000 head to a total of 221,000. The total was contrasted with an 1867 report listing 2,985,000 sheep on Pennsylvania farms.

Chickens were up 761,000 to a total of 27,598,000 while turkeys were up 10,000 to 184,000, according to the department. The number of hogs remained steady at 704,000 head.

Except hogs and sheep, all livestock totals dropped, the department said. Totals were: milk cows and heifers two years old and over kept for milking, down one per cent to 1,010,000; horses, down 13,000 to 97,000; mules, down 9000 to 101,000.

CHURCH WITH TWO MAIN AISLES

"When a church has two main aisles, which should be used by the wedding party?"

Answer: You may disregard one of the aisles and use the other for both processional and recessional, seating the guests as usual (the bride's friends and relatives on the left; the groom's on the right.) You may instead, if you prefer, use the right aisle for the processional and the left one for the recessional. Only one aisle is customarily used, if the wedding is a small one. But if the wedding is large, both aisles are then usually in use. In the latter case, the bride's parents should occupy the right side of the first middle pew and the groom's parents the left side of the same pew.

Question: I have always wondered whether guests should stand or sit during a wedding ceremony. Since I have been invited to attend a wedding shortly, I should appreciate receiving this information.

Answer: At the approach of the bridal party, as the wedding march begins, all guests should stand and remain standing until the entire ceremony is over and the bridal pair has left the church.

In the case of a Catholic nuptial mass, guests should stand, kneel or sit in accordance with the rule governing this ceremony.

Question: Please tell me which is the better form to express thanks for one's wedding gifts—a printed card or a personal note?

Answer: By no means send out printed cards to the donors of wedding gifts. A personal note to each is absolutely necessary. The note may be brief, but a note it must be.

LOST COW

COKATO, Minn.—(INS)—Irving Olson's 1,000-pound Hereford cow was lost in a haystack. The cow caused the stack to collapse when she ate her way into it. The cow was trapped for nearly 35 days. When Olson found the cow, she was 500 pounds lighter. The cow was found when other cattle ate their way to the spot where she was buried.

GLORY AND SERVICE

JESUS SERVED HUMANITY AND WAS TRANSFIGURED

Scripture— Mark 9:2-50

The Transfiguration.

"This is My beloved Son; hear ye Him."—Mark 9:7.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

We are now approaching the last part of Jesus' life on earth. The events of this lesson took place in the autumn of A. D. 28. More and more frequently the Master told His followers of His approaching death and resurrection, but they were only puzzled and bewildered at what He told them.

Taking with Him Peter, James and John—those nearest to Him—Jesus went up into a mountain (thought to have been Mt. Hermon) to pray.

Suddenly, before the apostles' eyes, the Lord was transfigured. His countenance grew shining, as did His clothes—"exceeding white as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them."

With Him appeared two figures, one on each side of Him, whom Peter recognized as Elijah (Elias) and Moses. As the disciples gazed, awestruck and frightened, a cloud overshadowed them, and out of the cloud came a voice, saying, "This is My bevoved Son: hear Him."

Coming down from the mountain after this dramatic experience, Jesus charged the disciples to say nothing about it to anyone, "till the Son of man were risen from the dead."

"And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean."

A great multitude met Jesus and His disciples, and when they saw Him they saluted Him. Scribes were among the crowd, and Jesus asked the scribes, "What question ye with them?"

One of the scribes answered that he had a son possessed of a dumb spirit, which had tormented him since childhood. He had spoken to the disciples, but they could not cast him out.

Jesus diagnosed their failure as lack of faith and prayer. With faith, He said, all things are possible. The child's father cried out with tears, "Lord, I believe: help Thou mine unbelief."

The boy was brought to him, in agony, and the Lord called for the spirit to come forth—which it did—but the boy lay as one dead. Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and "lo, he arose"—cured.

Once again Jesus tried to tell the disciples that "The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men, and they shall kill Him; and that after He is killed, He shall rise the third day.

"But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask Him."

At Capernaum Jesus came upon His disciples disputing, and they refused to tell Him what the argument was about. He knew, however. It was who should be greatest among them.

The Lord sat down and called the twelve to Him, and said, simply: "If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant of all."

Then Jesus took a child, took him in His arms, and said to them: "Whosoever shall receive one of such children in My name, receiveth Me, receiveth not Me, but Him who sent Me."

The disciples reported to Jesus—with evident indignation—that they found a man who was casting out devils in His name, but he did not belong to their band. They had forbidden him to do so.

Jesus rebuked them with the memorable words, "Forbid him not: for there is no man which shall do a miracle in My name, that can lightly speak evil of Me. For he that is not against us is on our part."

"For whosoveer shall give you a cup of water to drink in My name, because ye belong to Christ, verily, I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.

"And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in Me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea."

Service—that is the word for us. Are you in deep trouble or grief? Put it behind you and do something for someone who needs help, comfort, or sympathy.

If Jesus, this Son of God could, in His brief earthly life, serve all who came to Him in affliction, even in such humble ways as, for instance, washing His disciples' feet, why cannot we, His humble followers, do the same?

Why do we not strive and strive until it becomes second nature, to forget ourselves, our personal woes and disappiontments, and do our very best to help make the world—God's world—a better place in which all mankind can live?

Duchess Of Windsor Will Be Operated On During Day

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—(INS)—The Duchess of Windsor, wife of Britain's former King Edward VIII, is scheduled to be operated on today by a noted American surgeon.

In attendance at the time of the surgery in Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center's Harkness Pavilion will be a world-famed gynecologist.

The operation on the former Baltimore belle will be performed by Dr. Henry Wisdom Cave, president of the American College of Surgeons, and Dr. Benjamin P. Watson, fellow of the Royal College of surgeons, Edinburgh.

Hospital sources said that the operation is not considered serious.

Recurrent discomfort and nervous tension caused the Duchess to enter the hospital several days ago.

The operation will force her and the Duke to cancel a planned cruise to Nassau, in the British West Indies.

MOUSE LUCK

CHIPPENHAM, Eng.—(INS)—A mouse won his way to freedom in a shopping bag and escaped from eight cats and two dogs. A Chippenham woman resident drove five miles to a bank with the two dogs in her automobile. Her eight cats at home had overlooked the shopping bag. When she opened the bag in the bank, the mouse jumped out and escaped.

States Seeking To Recover Oil Tidelands

By FRANK B. ALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—A drive by states to recover the oil-rich tidelands belt endangered interior committee approval of the administration's federal control legislation.

Introduced by Sen. Holland (D) Fla., with 30-odd co-sponsors is the long-fought-over bill to quitclaim to the states their original boundaries—which in most cases means a three-mile submerged belt for seacoast states.

Meanwhile, Interior Chairman O'Mahoney (D) Wyo., pushed to windup hearings today with testimony scheduled by spokesmen for the state attorneys general and by onetime interior secretary Harold Ickes.

It appeared uncertain whether the O'Mahoney-Anderson bill to give operation of submerged lands —which the Supreme Court held the federal government owns—to the interior secretary or the "quitclaim" bill backed by the states would clear the committee.

Give Back to States

Informed sources predicted that whatever bill gets committee approval, the bill eventually passed by the Senate will be one to give the tidal belt back to the states—three miles for most states and 12 miles in the case of Texas and Louisiana.

Confident of House and Senate passage, backers of the quitclaim legislation said the real showdown will come on overriding the expected veto.

Former Sen. Downey (D) Cal., attorney for the city of Long Beach, predicted that the "states-rights" measure will have more than two-thirds of the Senate vote and three-fourths of the House.

O'Mahoney said he will make a vigorous fight to keep as federal property the three-mile strip, which he called "the patrimony of all the states". He said its revenue should be used to apply to the national debt.

O'Mahoney called his measure a compromise, because it provides that the adjacent states shall get 37.5 per cent of the royalty revenue from the submerged oil fields or mineral deposits within the three-mile limit.

Sen. Cordon (R) Ore., an interior committee senator, said he will support the quitclaim bill, but that if an effort to override the veto fails, he will support the O'Mahoney plan. He said that it is imperative that the issue be settled so that oil exploration can expand.

County Juniors Will Participate In Chicken Contest

Junior contestants in Western Pennsylvania's Chicken-Of-Tomorrow contest will raise 10,000 birds for the project according to the prediction of Vernon Norris, regional chairman of the contest in Lawrence county and 15 nearby counties.

The contest will terminate in Butler on June 1 when 15 live cockerels from each entry will be dressed and judged.

The Junior classification is for all contestants under 20 years of age at the beginning date of this contest. Entry blanks may be secured from county extension offices, vocational agriculture supervisors or the regional chairman.

Deadline for contest entry is March 5. The chicks must be hatched between Thursday, March 15 and Wednesday, March 21. Entries will consist of 100 straight run chicks, or 50 sexed cockerels of any good meat or dual purpose breed and must be wingbanded at the hatchery supplying them.

The committee for this region, in addition to chairman Vernon Norris, Butler county hatcheryman, includes: James C. Fink, vocational agriculture supervisor of Butler, Beaver and Lawrence counties.

South New Castle Boro P.T.A. Meeting

In the school auditorium of South New Castle Boro, the boro Parent-Teacher Association assembled on Tuesday evening for its regular meeting with Stanley Kosin, vice president, in charge.

Meeting opened with song selections by the group, accompanied by Mrs. Alfred Collingwood.

Minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. David Heaton. A treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Harry Jermakowicz.

After business session, meeting was turned over to Richard Morgan, chairman of special events. Plans were furthered for a project to be held Friday, February 23, in the boro school auditorium at 7:30.

Refreshments were served by the social committee, Mrs. Jack Nygard chairlady, and her aides, Mrs. Philip Ketzel, Mrs. Henry Kresowaty, Mrs. Charles Olescyski, Mrs. Tony Skufca, Jr. Mrs. Clifton White was unable to attend on account of illness. Door prize was won by Joseph Canan.

Next regular meeting will be on Tuesday evening, March 20.

About 92 percent of all chicks hatched in the United States come from commercial hatcheries.

Union High Fathers, Sons Banquet March 1

There will be an annual banquet to honor the fathers and sons at Union High School, on Thursday evening, March 1, beginning with the banquet at 6:30 o'clock, when a large attendance is expected.

George Hellman, the advisor of Union Hi Y will be the general chairman. A splendid speaker has been secured for the occasion.

The dinner will be served by members of the Union Parent-Teachers Association, in Union High School gymnasium. Mrs. Vishta Grittie is chairman of the banquet committee.

PERSONALS

Miss Margaret Jane Hawkins, of 407 South Walnut street, and Miss Nancy Smith of Sharon, both employees of Bell Telephone company, have been at Pittsburgh on Tuesday and Wednesday at the plant department of the company, there making observations. Miss Hawkins represented the New Castle office, and Miss Smith the Sharon office.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrville Dute of South Ray street, Mrs. Harry Hawkins, 407 South Walnut street, and Fred J. Reider of 724 East Reynolds street have returned after attending their aunt's funeral, Mrs. Mary Logue, of Myersdale, Pa.

Mrs. George A. Conley of 201 Caldwell avenue, who is still confined to her home, is able to get around her home on crutches. Mrs. Conley suffered a fractured leg, in an accident about six months ago.

Mrs. Paul Baldwin and Mrs. Charles Brinton of Clairton, are spending a few days visiting with their mother, Mrs. Mary Kurtz of South New Castle Boro.

Detectives Quiz Trio Concerning Charge

Detectives were quizzing three young men today following their detention at 1:30 a. m. by Policeman Trevor Williams in a West Washington street cafe. One of the men told Williams one of the other two men was going to shoot him. When Williams went to a booth he saw the man attempt to pass a revolver to a third man. However, it fell to the floor. The police are checking the allegation of the man who said he was going to be shot, and also the records of the other two men.

Doesn't Believe 'Flying Saucers' Yet Explained

By DONALD E. KEYHOE
(Author of "The Flying Saucers Are Real")
Written Expressly For International News Special Service

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The five recent atomic explosions at Las Vegas, Nevada, afford us an opportunity to test one theory concerning flying saucers.

If intelligent beings on another planet have us under observation, and if the saucers are their observation devices, atomic explosions would be one of the easiest things for them to detect.

Such explosions, involving possible danger for the solar system, would also be a reason for them to increase their observations.

It therefore seems possible to me that the Las Vegas explosions will cause a sharp increase in the so-called saucer reports sometime this spring.

Well Worth Investigating

I personally feel that the theory that the saucers are interplanetary is still well worth investigating.

That is to say, I do not believe that any other satisfactory explanation has yet been offered.

I do not believe that we have developed a secret weapon or any radically new form of propulsion that could account for them.

Needless to say, I do not accept the recent conclusions attributed to Dr. Urner Liddel of the office of naval research, that the saucers are the navy's "skyhook" cosmic ray balloons.

These balloons were never secret. They have always been under consideration, and they account for less than 10 per cent of the saucer reports.

Learned To Pilot Balloons

Let me say here that I am a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and that as a Marine I learned to pilot balloons at Pensacola, Fla., before I learned to fly planes.

A balloon can rise rapidly but does not normally descend rapidly or hover at low altitudes. It cannot be seen at night. It certainly cannot maneuver or pick up tremendous lateral speed.

A balloon in a high wind might appear to have great lateral speed to a ground observer, but not to a flier who would be in the same wind.

We have many eyewitness reports from experienced pilots where the saucer objects have flown alongside planes and then sped off at speeds greatly exceeding 500 miles an hour—disappearing in front of the plane rather than behind it.

Pilots Badly Treated

In my opinion these commercial and military pilots, more than 100 of whom have given detailed saucer accounts, have been badly treated.

They have been ridiculed and humiliated for giving honest reports on a phenomenon about which we should all be trying to learn as much as possible.

I believe that certain authorities are trying to throw up a smoke screen. They are desperately seeking a natural explanation for saucers. Their latest idea is to tell us the saucers are balloons.

This goes back to the Orson Welles "Men From Mars" scare. The military people are afraid of public panic.

Actually, they have nothing to fear and we have nothing to fear, as there has been nothing hostile or particularly dangerous indicated in any of the saucer reports.

I do not think it far-fetched to suppose that intelligent beings on another planet might have us under observation.

Every scientist agrees that space travel is technically possible. We will probably be observing other planets at close range within 40 or 50 years.

It is well to remember that we will certainly be able to send listening and photographing devices to circle other planets before we will be able to land craft on them.

Faith Luncheon On Wednesday

Women's committee of the Appelman evangelistic campaign put their faith into operation on Wednesday when they prepared a "faith luncheon" which attracted over 150 women of all denominations to the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A.

A free will offering lifted at the conclusion of the dinner, more than paid for the expenses of the dinner with any surplus to be used in the evangelistic campaign work.

Mrs. Kenneth Lutz, general chairman of the women's work committee, called on Rev. George Jones, general chairman of the Appelman campaign for the invocation, after which a bountiful meal of meat loaf, mashed potatoes, peas, coffee, rolls and cherry pie were served.

The Gospelettes, a trio from the First Pentecostal church, assisted at the piano by Mrs. Walter Bender, pleased with a selection, followed by brief words from Mrs. George Abrams, vice chairman of the women's committee. Clare M. Lutz, Woodson W. Collins and Mrs. A. W. Zeigler were also introduced.

Rev. Jones Speaks

Rev. Jones, speaker for the occasion, congratulated the women for their fine spirit of cooperation toward the campaign and the work they have accomplished. He stated that one of the most important things was to pray for the success of the campaign.

The speaker, for his brief meditation, chose women of the Bible as his theme, speaking on Hannah in the Old Testament; Mary and Eunice from the New Testament. He asked the women to exercise their faith in God even as Hannah did. He urged his audience to help together by prayer. He told the large assemblage of women, that they could impart their faith to others, through confidence and through their inspiration.

The meal was served by a group of young ladies comprising the Cecelia Bible class of the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle with Mrs. Howard Duff of First Methodist church serving as chief cook.

Grange Urges Conservation

Save Scenic Spots For Future Citizens

A delegation of Pomona Grange appeared before the county commissioner Wednesday asking that something be done to stop scenic properties from falling into the hands of private owners who then post the lands against trespassing.

The delegation explained that Pomona Grange was interested in saving the scenic spots of the county for future generations but that the constant buying up of spots by private owners would eventually rob future generations of the scenic wonders of this county.

The commissioners expressed their appreciation of the grange taking such a stand and said that it followed the ideas of the commissioners and also many citizens.

It was explained that steps were being taken now that if carried out to fulfillment would result in a State park being established in the most scenic spot of all the county, the Slippery Rock valley.

Reprieves Granted To Five Convicted Slayers In State

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Gov. John S. Fine on Wednesday granted respites to five convicted slayers condemned to death in the electric chair.

Four of the executions were delayed on recommendation of the state pardons board because their clemency appeals were set back Tuesday until next month's session.

Lt. Gov. Lloyd H. Wood, board chairman, said he had not had sufficient time to review the records in the cases of David Darcy, 23; Harry Zietz, 21; Harold Foster, 26, all of Philadelphia, and Dominic Daversa, 35, of Greensburg.

Execution of Darcy, Foster and Zietz was advanced from February 26 to the week beginning April 2. They were convicted of slaying a bystander in the December, 1947, holdup of the Feasterville Inn near Bristol.

Daversa, scheduled to die March 5, was given a respite until the week beginning April 9. He was convicted of shooting his wife on a Greensburg street in April, 1947.

Also slated to die March 5 was Edward Hough, 35, one of three men convicted of slaying patrolman Cecil Ingling outside a Philadelphia supermarket following a robbery in 1946.

Hough's execution was put off until the week beginning May 7 because an appeal by David Almeida, an accomplice, still is pending in the U. S. district court at Philadelphia.

Woman And Baby Plunge To Death

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Feb. 22—(INS) — A Bridgeport mother clutched her six-months-old baby in her arms Wednesday and plunged six floors down a central shaft in a downtown office building. Both were killed instantly.

Bridgeport police identified the woman as Mrs. Julia Fahar, about 35. The Security building, where the mother and child were killed, is constructed with open corridors surrounding the central well.

School Last Resort For Emergency Center

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22 — All schools in Pennsylvania should continue to function wherever possible in spite of enemy action, and should not be used as emergency centers except as a last resort, according to a recent directive issued by Dr. Francis B. Haas, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"The reason for this viewpoint is the prevention of juvenile delinquency and the necessary emotional readjustment of children which can be supplied by educational activities," Dr. Haas stated, citing the State plan for emergency welfare services in civil defense.

The suggestion originated with the Federal Civil Defense Administration and is based on experience in England during World War II.

In the directive, which was sent to superintendents and principals of public, private, and parochial schools, as well as heads of colleges and other State-owned and State-aided institutions, Dr. Haas recommended that existing schedules be continued "if possible."

If a disaster occurs, the use of schools as emergency centers should be confined to "a temporary period as brief as can be effected." In the meantime, supervisors are urged to survey buildings for possible use as temporary shelters, feeding stations, and storage centers "if the need arises."

"School administrators are urged to give their complete cooperation and support to the county coordinator in making plans for Civil Defense," Dr. Haas added in concluding the directive.

OCCASION DRESSERS

LONDON—(INS)—The British trade magazine "Style for Men" rapped Englishmen hard over the knuckles for their "slovenly, sloppy and untidy clothes standards" and launched a spirited campaign to combat the "casual look." The magazine lamented: "Englishmen abroad used to be considered as the yardstick by which sartorial standards were measured. This is no longer the case. Leisure clothes are now being worn at all times. The men of England no longer dress for occasions."

Troop Training Programs Will Be Altered Some

Gen. Mark Clark Sees Need Of Changes After Korea Tour

By FRANK CONIFF
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ON THE EAST CENTRAL FRONT IN KOREA, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Gen. Mark Clark, boss of the Army's ground troops, said Wednesday American soldiers are incomparably superior to their Communist foes in Korea, but forecast tougher basic training as a result of lessons learned in this war.

Clark, on the third day of a tour of the fighting front, declared the American GI is "head and shoulders above anything he's fighting here."

The onetime commander of the Fifth Army in Italy who now is responsible for all stateside Army training said:

"I've visited every division in Korea and I have learned many things that should be incorporated in our troop training program.

More Night Training

"They need more training in night fighting. They must be taught to button up, get off the roads, and if surrounded stay there and fight."

Clark arrived on the east central front in an L-17 observation plane, accompanied by Lieut. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the Tenth Corps.

Clark laid to rest reports that veteran troops in Korea, who in some cases have been fighting steadily for eight months, soon would be relieved.

He said:

"As desirable as it may be there is no definite rotation program at the present time. We have been giving thought to such a program. It is obviously desirable."

Clark said his main impression of his Korean tour has been "lack of realization by the people back home" of the hardships sustained by the soldiers.

He said:

Doing Grand Job

"I only wish more people could see the grand job United Nations troops are doing, the courage and stamina they are displaying. It's a real team—all nations—army, navy, and Air Force. They're tails are up very nicely."

One weapon that will be prominently employed from now on in training, Clark said, will be the bayonet.

"The Korean war has been variable from the beginning," he said. "This place reminds me of Italy. It was not until we could get off the roads and up the mountains that we were able to surprise the Boche.

The field forces commander added that in future training in the United States "we have plenty of cold places and we will try to make it as realistic and rugged as we can."

Clark added:

"Rotation of American troops in Korea is several months off at least."

He explained it must await the building up of overall U. S. forces in the Far East.

He said that he and Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had discussed a plan for "limited exchange" of officers between Korea and U.S. training commands but Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the Department of Defense must approve the scheme.

Ten Best Dressed Men In America Again Selected

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The experts who annually name the "10 best dressed men in America" agreed today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower suits himself with prize-winning decor.

Gen. Ike" was named supreme commander of good grooming for 1950 by the 3,000 members of the National Association of Retail Clothiers and Furnishers.

Bob Hope took second place, nosing out New York Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy by a sniveling 11 points.

Radio and TV emcee Ed Herlihy won fourth, and the Yankees' Phil Rizzuto, in fifth place, was a short stop above socialite Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

In seventh-to-10th spots respectively were best-dressers Dan Seymour, Gregory Peck, Edward Fields and Jan Murray.

Secretary Dean Acheson, consistently a winner in previous polls, sank back to 17th place in the current survey.

Gen. Eisenhower was named "best-dresser" because, the membership said, he wears "the typical American look" — always neat, never flashy.

It was Hope's stunning combinations of suits, shirts and ties that won him a grooming crown. And Commissioner Murphy was "found to be well-tailored at all times, even in the stress of official duties."

GIVEN 13 GIFTS

TOKYO, Feb. 22.—(INS)—General and Mrs. Douglas MacArthur gave their son Arthur 13 gifts Wednesday on his 13th birthday.

The general and his wife gave their only son one present for each of his 13th birthdays—a traditional family practice.

Young Arthur was excused from his studies and shared a big birthday cake with his father and mother in the afternoon at their home in the American embassy in Tokyo.

CHIMES GO HAYWIRE

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Churchgoers did not answer the call when the hymn chimes at the Central Baptist Church suddenly aroused them at 5:30 a.m. A power failure had disrupted the chime clock and caused a 10-minute period of religious music to boom forth.

To Plan For Supply Of Unpolluted Water For District

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—A commission to plan an adequate flow of unpolluted water to Pittsburgh and other western Pennsylvania communities is proposed today in a bill before the state senate.

Co-sponsored by Bernard M. McGinnis (D) Allegheny, Robert D. Fleming (R) Allegheny, and Rowland B. Mahany (R) Crawford, the measure provides for establishment of a "Western Pennsylvania Water Supply Planning Commission."

Members would be the state health secretary, the chief engineer of the Health Department's Bureau of the Water and Power Resources Board, and three others to be appointed by the governor.

A $100,000 appropriation would be provided to investigate the feasibility of bringing the "unpolluted water of western Pennsylvania to Pittsburgh and other communities by means of open canals, tunnels and siphons.

The commission's final report would be made to the General Assembly in 1953 along with drafts of legislation to carry out the proposed plan.

Makes First Jet Crossing Of Ocean Without Refueling

GANDER, Newfoundland, Feb. 22 — (INS) — Great Britain's new twin-jet bomber Canberra arrived at Gander airport from Aldergrove, northern Ireland, Wednesday, in the first jet crossing of the Atlantic without refueling.

The craft flew 500 miles an hour at 40,000 feet in the elapsed time of four hours and 38 minutes. The The Canberra is expected to leave for the United States tomorrow morning.

The bomber was scheduled to make the attempt yesterday but while it was enroute from Lancashire to the Royal Air Force Base at Aldergrove it struck a seagull, causing minor damage to one wing.

PATTERSON GROUP MEETS AT CHURCH

Members of the Patterson auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church held their February meeting in the church parlor on Tuesday evening.

President, Mrs. Harry Sherman, conducted business, with the devotional period under the direction of Mrs. L. G. Wetmur. "Hospitals Stand Witness" was the subject of the talk presented by Mrs. Glenn Webber.

The patriotic theme was carried out in the decorations, with a dainty lunch served by the hostesses Mrs. Ben Wise, Mrs. William Stewart, Mrs. Fred Ball, Mrs. Gerald Earl and Mrs. Sadie Duffy. A special guest was Mrs. Earl Forney.

On March 20 the auxiliary will gather at the church, with guests invited to hear the book review which has been planned for the program.

K.H. Birthday Club

Mrs. Marietta Cecil was hostess when the K. H. Birthday club met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Rose Rozzi, Friendship street.

Mrs. Pasqualina Donofrio was welcomed as a new member. Games were played and the door prize was captured by Mrs. Rachel Pascarella. The birthday of Mrs. Marietta Ceci was honored and she received a lovely gift.

Later the hostess served a tasty lunch, with the aid of Mrs. Rachel Pascarella. Special guests were Mrs. Mary Conti and Mrs. Clotilda Ross.

February 27 is the meeting with Mrs. Angeline Lombardo hostess at the home of Mrs. Rose Rozzi, Friendship street.

E. O. CANASTA CLUB EVENING MEETING

Mrs. Russell Ficht was a charming hostess Tuesday evening when she entertained members of the E. O. Canasta club at her home, East Washington street.

Television and canasta were the main diversions of the evening, with high score awards for canasta going to Mrs. L. W. Fulton and Mrs. Fae Pitzer.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess at a table prettily appointed in the George Washington motif. Mrs. Fulton assisted in serving.

The next meeting will be held March 20, with Mrs. Fae Pitzer to be hostess at the home of Mrs. Jessie Stenger, 810 Highland avenue.

Starlighters Meet

Members of the Starlighters club met Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Darlene Lotz, Spruce street.

A short business meeting was held, with vice president, Miss Marion Logan, conducting business in the absence of the president, Miss Phyllis Craven. It was decided that the secretary would be replaced by Miss Shirley Cusana.

Dancing was later enjoyed to the music provided by Ted Houk. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, aided by Miss Rose Sager and Miss Shirley Cusana.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Pearl Stevenson, Adams street, February 27.

Silverlites Meet

Mrs. Nick LaVecchia of West Clayton street entertained members of the Silverlites club in her home on Tuesday evening. A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Anthony Compelio.

Po'ke'no and cards were the diversions, with the door prize going to Mrs. Anthony Nuzzo.

A tempting lunch was served by the hostess, aided by her sister, Mrs. Stanley Wrobel. The next meeting will be held March 13 at the home of Mrs. Frank Bruno, Lafayette street.

Parsonage Aid Assembles

Parsonage Aid of Primitive Methodist Maitland Memorial church assembled Tuesday evening in the parsonage, Maitland street, with Mrs. Delbert Montgomery offering the opening prayer.

Mrs. Edward Hoyland, who presided, named the following parsonage committee: Mrs. Harry Ashton, Mrs. Joseph Mackenzie, Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. Thomas Wilcox. Mrs. Harris Smith will serve as the reporter. Several new articles have been purchased during the past year for the parsonage by the group.

Mrs. Eugene Roberts was in charge of the program. Mrs. Laverne Hemphill pleased with a vocal solo. Mrs. Mackenzie was her accompanist. Mrs. George Abrahams and Mrs. Mackenzie were awarded tokens for Bible games. Mrs. Thomas Wilcox and Mrs. L. G. Dennis, hostesses, served tempting refreshments.

Kumjoynus Class Meets

Mr. and Mrs. Cal Sloan of Covert road were hosts to members of the Kumjoynus class of the First Methodist church.

The meeting was opened with devotions led by Mrs. George Heckart. Dick Kimmel, president, conducted the business meeting.

The remainder of the evening was in charge of Art Walters and Cal Sloan, who directed the group in a variety of games. Lunch was served with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walters assisting Mr. and Mrs. Sloan.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCormick, 512 Elizabeth street.

Q-Jeans Club

Mrs. Charles Biasucci of East Long avenue received the Q-Jeans club Wednesday evening in her home, and the George Washington theme predominated.

High score prize for cards was captured by Mrs. Leonard Turco. Special guest attending was Mrs. Rudy Eagan, Jr., from California.

Assisting the hostess to serve a lunch at the nicely appointed table was her mother, Mrs. Anthony Villani.

March 7 is the meeting with Mrs. Anthony Latore, South Mercer street.

New Club Formed

Tuesday Niters, a newly organized club of young mothers, met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Pete Rozzi, Wooley avenue.

Games were played and lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Viola Pascarella was a special guest. Mrs. Richard Morganti won the door prize.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Domenic Reda, 1604 Jackson avenue, on March 6.

Section One Assembles

Mrs. G. S. Bennett offered the opening prayer Wednesday evening, when Section One assembled in First Christian church.

Mrs. Ray Showalter presided at the business session. The members completed their project of $200 towards redecorating the church auditorium. Tentative plans were made for another project.

Mrs. Raymond Taylor and Mrs. Ralph Newingham were winners in the baby picture contest that was enjoyed.

Colorful refreshments were served at a table, attractively decorated in the theme of George Washington's birthday. Mrs. Fred Williams and Mrs. Bennett were hostesses. A tureen dinner is being planned for March 7, at 6:30 p.m. in the church with Mrs. Frank Hay and Mrs. Mina Herbold as hostesses.

Newcomers' Club

Members of the Newcomers' club enjoyed a dinner at The Castleton hotel on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Following a short business meeting, games were the diversion, with several prizes awarded. Mrs. Grace Skogg was chairman of the event with Mrs. Pauline McMurray and Mrs. Mabel Mansfield assisting.

The next meeting will be held March 27, with the place to be announced later.

Home Auxiliary Board Meeting

President Mrs. Richard Marquis presided at the meeting of the board of the Margaret Henry Home auxiliary held Wednesday afternoon in the Guild room of Trinity Episcopal church.

Important business matters were discussed and Mrs. Marquis listed the co-chairmen of the standing committees which she has appointed to serve. They are: house, Mrs. Emmett Chambers, chairman; Mrs. Travis French, co-chairman; finance, Mrs. Frank Christofer, chairman, Mrs. Lumen Popp, Mrs. Eugene Wray, co-chairmen; clothing, Mrs. Howard Reynolds, chairman, Mrs. Henry Navarra, co-chairman; sponsors, Mrs. Elmer Shaffer, chairman, Mrs. E. L. Davenport, co-chairman; sewing, Mrs. George Sherman, chairman, Mrs. Margaret Treharne, co-chairman; membership, Mrs. Anthony Marino, Mrs. Dale Currie, Mrs. Alvin Herberg, Mrs. Samuel Jackson and Mrs. Julius Cobb, co-chairmen; publicity, Mrs. Raymond Fredericks, chairman.

Officers' reports were given by Mrs. Jessie Stenger, recording secretary, Mrs. S. E. Wray, treasurer, and Mrs. Walter N. Fulkerson, corresponding secretary.

Plans were tentatively discussed for the board members auxiliary to hold a tureen dinner sometime in May, with the social committee to be in charge.

Mrs. Marquis requested that board members must be present at each meeting, to be held the third Wednesday of each month in the Guild room of Trinity Episcopal church at 1:30 p.m.

Tax Rebate For Farm Gas Disappoints

By AL SPIVAK
I. N. S. Pennsylvania Farm Editor

HARRIBURG, Feb. 22.—The two and one-half cents a gallon tax rebate for gasoline used on the farm started out as a boom but has ended a bust.

The joint state government commission has offered the General Assembly evidence that only an average of 2.2 per cent of the commonwealth's 171,000 farm operators have benefited from the refund.

The small farmer has received hardly any benefit in comparison with the large one, reported the fact-finding group.

The rebate is a 50 per cent return on the five cents a gallon state tax on liquid fuels.

The General Assembly placed the rebate in effect in 1949 because funds recevied from the tax are earmarked for highway improvement and it was felt that fuel used off the highway should not be taxed for that purpose.

During the first year of operation, the JSGC reported, $219,034 was paid in refunds to 7,617 recipients, an average of $28.76 apiece.

"The average acreage of the farms of refund recipients was 219 acres," the commission said, "while the average acreage of all farms in Pennsylvania was about 87½ acres."

The JSGC blamed non-participation of small operators on a $1.50 quarterly filing fee deducted from each claim.

The fee in effect makes it impossible for a farm operator to get a refund on the first 60 gallons of liquid fuels used in any three months for non-highway agricultural purposes, the commission said.

Because of this fee, in other words, no refund can be granted in Pennsylvania on the first 240 gallons used in a year.

Report U.S. Couldn't Hold All Of Alaska And Aleutian Chain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The Senate preparedness subcommittee reported today that it is "impossible for the military to hold all of Alaska and the Aleutian chain" in event of war with Russia.

The subcommittee said that the Seward peninsula facing Soviet Siberia only 56 miles across the narrow Bering Strait probably could not be protected from "either bombing or actual invasion" by Russia.

Three subcommitteemen who made an on-the-scene investigation of Alaskan defenses last fall said bluntly in their report that "certain areas must be left undefended insofar as ground troops and military installations are concerned."

Speaker Shows G. Washington's Human Side

Volunteer Firemen At Annual Dinner

"The Human Side of Washington" was discussed in an interesting fashion Wednesday night when Attorney William J. Caldwell addressed the annual dinner of the New Castle Volunteer Firemen.

The dinner was held in the Ecclesian Hall on South Jefferson street.

Had Hard Life

"Too many biographers have been content to show the high spots of George Washington's career without showing the hard life he had" said Mr. Caldwell.

"At age eleven his father died and he went to live with his brother. Between 11 and 16 he managed to get the only formal education he ever had, yet he fitted himself to be a surveyor.

"From sixteen years of age he supported himself and at twenty came into the Mount Vernon estate, not, as some believe, by gift, but by purchase.

"His brother Lawrence had died, leaving his widow and two small children. Within a few months the two children had died. The widow remarried in five months and George Washington arranged to take over the estate for a price of 15,000 pounds of tobacco every year for a period of years.

No Big Victories

"In his military life he met with many reverses, in fact he had no big victories until the Revolution was coming to a close. But the high courage of the man, his capacity and his vision overcome the obstacles in his path.

"He was a tremendous man in size, six feet four, but he suffered from ill health most of his life. But even in his death he was courageous. It is said of him that as he lay dying he called one of his servants to him and said, I die hard, but I am not afraid to go."

The address evidenced a lot of research and study. It was delivered in a fashion that kept the interest of the volunteers until the close.

Melvin Toastmaster

Russell Melvin was the toastmaster of the evening and did not have his program jammed with a lot of trivia. Instead he cleared things quickly in order to give the speaker the time his address warranted.

Mayor John F. Haven, and City Councilmen Albert A. Hoyland, Richard I. Davis, Joseph Medure and E. Gene Schweinsberg were present and were introduced. Phil Crane, president of the general department was also introduced.

The dinner featured roast turkey, served in farmhouse portions. Cecil Potter had charge of the dinner meal arrangements.

Following the program the firemen had an hour of social intercourse.

Fine Program For Consistory Will Take Place Friday

New Castle Consistory members will have an outstanding program of entertainment on Friday evening when Stag Night will be observed for members only.

The entertainment committee has secured former Governor Col. Harold G. Hoffman as the speaker for the occasion, and there will be other entertainment, along with a buffet lunch at the close of the program.

Col. Hoffman is widely known as a soldier, statesman, orator, and philosopher, and his witty remarks are certain to keep his audience well entertained during the evening.

Some 4,000,000 more hogs will be slaughtered in 1951 than were in 1950, according to the Agriculture department.

In 1950, the Post Office department lost more than $73 million on the sale of penny postcards.

PENNSYLVANIA R.R. WORKERS IN RED CROSS RALLY

Five hundred employes of the Pennsylvania railroad gathered at the Car Shop in the Seventh ward Tuesday at noon for a Red Cross rally. Paul F. Butz spoke to the workers, explaining all phases of the Red Cross work. Marion Streett, assistant superintendent of the Lake division, was in charge of the meeting.

County Youths Win In Bred Gilt Show

Several Lawrence County F.F.A. youths, who had entries in the ninth annual Hampshire Bred Gilt show and sale, conducted at the New Wilmington Livestock auction last week, won places, a report on the show and sale made today reveals.

Robert McDowell, of Mercer, had the Grand Champion gilt. Ted Wallas, of East Brook, placed fourth with his entry, while ninth place went to Jameson Brothers, of East Brook and eighth and tenth place to John Clark of Mt. Jackson. Clark also took ninth and tenth places in the open gilt class.

The average price on the 43 head of bred gilts was $129, while the average price on open glits was $49.77 per head.

Among the purchasers of this registered stock was Ray Foster, of Volant, R. D., and David Martin of the East Brook F.F.A. chapter.

Stassen Warns On Athletic Scandals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The senate's troops-to-Europe" inquiry completed its roster of possible GOP presidential candidates today with the addition of ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen as a witness.

Stassen, now president of the University of Pennsylvania and an avowed American foreign policy authority, will testify Friday afternoon. He will be followed Saturday morning by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, and on Monday the hearings will wind up with testimony of Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, and Sen. Wherry (R) Neb.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, European defense commander and chief threat to Taft's 1952 presidential hopes, already has appeared.

Taft already has tagged foreign policy as the tell-tale issue of 1952. The positions taken this week by the various Republican leaders, many of their followers believe, may shape their political destinies.

Awaiting the political lights, the foreign relations and armed services committees today continued testimony from air force generals and others on the wisdom of dispatching U. S. ground forces to help defend western Europe.

PEN BOWL

FORT MADISON, Ia.—(INS)—Evidence that a regular fountain pen can perform underwater tricks as amazing as the exploits of the ballpoints arrived recently. Safety engineer Eric A. Ericsson wrote to the Shaeffer people that his pen wrote perfectly as soon as it was wiped off after spending all night, with cap detached, in a goldfish bowl—and that the water in the bowl wasn't even slightly discolored.

In The Open

February is a trying month for the outdoorsman. It is an enforced waiting period, a sort of standing-in-line business, until Dame Nature satisfies herself the time has arrived to rouse the artizans who paint the first faint flush of the vernal season across the countryside. It is a fickle, tantalizing month, tempering the icy blasts of Winter with a promise of better things to come. It gives us robins and bluebirds on Monday and on Tuesday presents us with a twelve-inch snow, straight out of the ice box of the frozen North.

There is not a bit of use in trying to do anything about it. Pull and haul as he will, the countryman cannot budge February, or speed her any faster along towards the equinox. In Nature's own good time, as it has ever been, the days will pass, the immutable laws of time and change will be observed, and we will once again have Spring. In the meantime the best thing to do is to make the annual selections from the seed catalogs, spending at least one February weekend lost in the colorful maze of new flowers and improved hybrid vegetables which make up the current offerings.

Warmish Overcast Morning

The weekend brought a warmish, overcast morning, with occasional spates of welcome rain to help clear the debris from the recent ice pack. A songsparrow chanted in the walnut tree behind the house, one of the neighborhood chickadees tuned up his lovesick Springtime aria, and as I left for the morning's stint behind the wide desk a cardinal whistled me out of earshot.

By noon the overcast had moved down closer and the continuing traces of rain gave hint to the weather slated for the next few hours. I was undecided whether or not to risk a good soaking when a downy woodpecker drummed away happily on a dead stub just below the house. I figured if he could take it so could I, and packed hiking clothes and walking stick into the car.

Far From The Highway

An hour or so later I was far from the highway, heading for some big timber in hopes of perhaps locating the nest of one of the big owls. A pair of tree sparrows contested my right of passage through their wild crabapple kingdom. While I was standing in the gloom of a dense thicket edging the timber one of the big hawks came hunting overhead. He soared directly above me and then circled out over the rotting ice on an adjacent pond.

I checked on at least a dozen deserted nests and other accumulations high up in the bigger trees, but nowhere did I see or hear anything that remotely resembled an owl. There were juncoes feeding in the tall weeds edging the far limits of the timberland, and as I returned to the car later I saw some tiny golden-crowned kinglets consorting with a group of the commoner Winter birds. I came across two of the giant puffballs, which "smoked" as readily as in late November.

I drove along by one of the large reservoirs in my hiking territory. There were several aisles of open water through the ice. Cruising up and down these narrow corridors were a half-dozen goldeneye ducks. The glasses brought in quite clearly the distinctive white "eye-spot" on the male birds. A pair of nondescript darker colored dippers were feeding in the shallows but I could not identify them with any certainty.

Several Skunks Seen

That night the car lights picked out several skunks abroad on the nocturnal business of the primrose path, and once I caught a fleeting glimpse of a red fox scuttling across the roadway. The night brought clearing skies and the following morning we were much surprised to see a phoebe perched in the apple sauce tree, pumping his tail calmly in the warm sunlight as though his mid-February appearance was nothing unusual.

Perhaps this is the phoebe which nests each year under our back porch and perhaps he has had some inside information on the weather which brought him back so early. I hope he has not miscalculated, for he lives almost exclusively on insects, and February is not a popular month with our local bugs.

SASSY FRASS

TO ROME ON FOOT

BARCELONA, Spain—Antonio Carreras, 32, left here by foot on a Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome. Equipped only with a knapsack, a pilgrim's staff and 650 pesetas ($16), Carreras said he hoped to cover the distance in 30 daily laps averaging 22 miles each.

Crowds Swell At Cooking School Held In Cathedral

Modern methods of cooking fascinated 900 women Wednesday evening as they attended the second days' sessions of the "picture book" cooking school presented by 16 local gas appliance dealers and the Columbia Gas Corporation at the Cathedral buiding.

Again, Miss Margaret Easley and Miss Alice Levin demonstrated to the wide-eyed audience of ladies how ingredients could be transformed in a matter of minutes into tasty delectable foods palatable to members of the entire family. Use of the latest gas appliances was made during the demonstrations.

Bob Lowe, master of ceremonies, amazed the audience as he made a "dream house" cake. As in other sessions, wonderful prizes were presented to a number of fortunate women in the audience. The final session of the school took place this afternoon at the Cathedral.

Prize winners during Wednesday's session included: Mrs. Mary Kitzke, Mrs. David Matthews, Mrs. Hazel Shrieve, Mrs. Edward Hutnick, Mrs. Ann Giancolo, Mrs. F. M. Casburn, Mrs. J. N. Dilley, Nell Kociela, Mrs. Frank Cozza, Mrs. F. L. Gallagher, Mrs. Florence Fulkerson, Mrs. Sal. LaScola, Fannie Cline, Mrs. Francis Hink, Mrs. Charles Schwerhert, Mrs. Dorothy Monico and Esther Kline.

St. Joseph's Group Hears Fr. C. Becker

The Sodality of Our Lady of St. Joseph's church met in regular session on a recent evening with prefect Eleanor Klaber in charge.

Dolores Alberico gave the secretary's report and Marlene Valiensi gave the treasurer's report. A quiz on the virginity of Our Blessed Lady was conducted and a talk on "Why We Should Pray Our Rosary Daily" was given by Donna Mahr of Our Lady's committee.

Rev. Fr. C. H. Becker gave an interesting talk on the subject, "The Sodality Way, Discussion Outline and Chart".

Another meeting is planned for March.

Actor Declares Thrill Is Gone

Tyrone Power Gives Reflections After 15 Years In Movies

By MILTON KAPLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 22. — Tyrone Power looked back over 15 years of movie hero stuff today and decided the "thrill is gone".

More than that, the actor aimed a couple of straight lefts at the movie industry and its Hollywood home.

"Making movies," Power said, "is like making wicker baskets all your life."

Power's current effort for Twentieth-Century-Fox — his 36th feature film—is "The House On The Square," in which he plays an atomic scientist who suddenly finds himself back in the 18th century. The movie is being made at Denham studios near London.

When he finishes the movie, Power said, he and his wife, actress Linda Christian, plan to return to Hollywood—but not for long.

"No matter where you go in Hollywood," Power said, "there's only one subject—movies. As far as Hollywood is concerned, there's nothing east of the San Bernadino mountains.

Not For Him

"California is nice, but you vegetate there."

And that, Power said, is not for him.

Power and his wife have a home in classy Brentwood, but he said they probably will go to Mexico to live.

The actor, a Marine Corps transport pilot during World War II, reported also that he has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain in the Marine Corps Reserves.

Power figured that he has portrayed the following in his 15-year film-making stretch:

Oxford scholar, pilot, dance band leader, builder of the Suez Canal, naval officer, mule boy, natador, private crook (once as embezzler, once as Jesse James), carnival barker, newspaperman, and film studio publicist.

After all of that, Power said, the "thrill is gone" from the film business. But he's not quitting. Eyeing the expensive, European-made sports car he is bringing back to the United State, Ty said he figured he'd go right on making movies.

Freedom Foundation Awards Announced

VALLEY FORGE, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Tournament of Roses and the Boy Scouts of America were among top winners of the $100,000 Freedoms Foundation awards today.

The late Al Jolson was a medal winner for "the non-sectarian provisions of his will."

The awards, made annually to individuals and organizations, totalled 850 this year.

Recipients were honored for their patriotic efforts and "outstanding contributions to a better understanding of freedom" by the things which they wrote, did or said in 1950.

The jury composed of distinguished Americans under the chairmanship of Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State College, had to go through more than four-and-a-half tons of exhibits to select winners.

It was aided by 400 Korean war casualties, hospitalized at Valley Forge, who did the work of sorting, classifying and cataloguing nominations.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

Families on the Move

Once again, we are beginning to see mothers with very young children moving about the country to join husbands. Buses, trains and planes headed for army camps, naval bases or defense centers are loaded with them.

It's no simple job to travel with young children. Fortunately, some special arrangements are being made by the carriers. Bottle-warming services, nurseries in some of the larger stations, and other aids are a part of the picture. But still the main job rests on the shoulders of the family.

Bottles of milk can be carried in insulated bags. A few toys and books for the younger children make long trips seem shorter. The favorite toy should definitely be a traveling companion since it brings comfort in a new and sometimes difficult situation.

Fortunately, too, there are interested fellow passengers who will often be willing to lend a helping hand. So, though traveling with the young is rarely a picnic, a little foresight and willingness to accept help from others will keep it from being too much of a hardship.

Coin Club To Have Unique Program

C. W. Randolph of Hubbard, O., the new president of the New Castle Coin club, is planning an unique and interesting program for the club members and their friends on Monday evening at the monthly meeting of the club in the YMCA.

There will be a speaker and a projector will show currency on a screen, which not only reproduces but enlarges these exhibits.

Anyone interested in coin collecting, whether a member of the club or not, is invited to attend this meeting, which will start at 7:30 o'clock in the first floor assembly room at the Y.

Inflation Named Public Enemy No. 1 For U.S. Education

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Harold E. Stassen has named inflation as public enemy No. 1 for American education today.

The University of Pennsylvania president said:

"Inflation has caused a rapid rise in the costs of everything which schools and teachers must purchase and it has left them with either fixed or declining incomes. It is a very serious situation."

Stassen said the "medicine to cure this fever of inflation is not pleasant to take, nor popular to prescribe."

"But forthright action must be taken," he said, "to halt the inflationary spiral by rigid control of credit, by cutitng down on non-defense and non-educational spending, by balancing the budget and by strengthening the confidence in the dollars."

East Brook Men To Speak At Church

Laymen's Sunday will be observed February 25, at East Brook Methodist church. James C. Fink and W. L. Anderson will serve as leaders of the service that will begin at 9:45 a.m.

Camden Grocer Kills Bandit

One Of Two Bandits Entering Store Shot

CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 22.—(INS)—A 66-year-old Camden grocer today shot and killed one of two bandits who invaded his small store shortly after opening time today.

The grocer, Cosmo Cianci, put one bullet between the eyes of the holdup man, who wore a black-stocking mask, but the second bandit fled.

Cianci said the thugs, both Negroes, entered the store while his wife, Mary, 63, was preparing the stock. One of them grabbed her to prevent an outcry.

The grocer, in a back room, dashed out and was met by a hail of three shots from the gunmen but all went wide. Cianci then grabbed a .38-calibre pistol from under a counter and fired.

He said the men had entered shortly after his son, Ralph, 24, had left to get some cakes.

Police said the bandits apparently had hoped to obtain money which the Ciancis had on hand to cash checks for industrial workers.

The first woman mayor in the United States was Mrs. Ella Wilson, who took that post at Hunnewell, Kan., in 1911.

Stassen To Testify On Sending U.S. Troops To Europe

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Harold E. Stassen has warned that the American educational system "cannot entirely escape some of the responsibility" for the nations' current wave of athletic scandals.

The University of Pennsylvania president told the annual dinner of the American Association of School Administrators:

"These scandals should cause our entire American educational system to take a careful look in the mirror and take stock not only of its atheltic programs, but of its moral and ethical teaching of the youth of the nation."

Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, asserted the American educational system has not been given "a strong enough role in the moral training" of the country's young people.

KNOCKS GALS

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The prominent British author, Somerset Maugham, set some of this country's leading women writers back on their heels recently by stating flatly there are no worthwhile women authors today. Maugham was adddressing the Womens' National Press club in Washington, which includes novelists as well as newspaper and radio writers among its members.

Helping The Problem Drinker

(By An Alcoholic)

What is one to do when trying to help the problem drinker? What is the objective of the helping person and what are the difficulties to be anticipated in making any recovery effort? Any effective, enlightened approach to a person suffering from a serious drinking problem requires consideration of these questions.

Unless the alcoholic or threatened alcoholic, is willing to cooperate and is able to, neither you, the physician, the psychiatrist, the community welfare agency, nor a tolerant court can do anything for or with the victim. In most illnesses, the patient displays a will to recover and is co-operative, but the alcoholic traditionally offers stubborn resistance to all help extended him. This may be reasonably explained in part as being due to the victim's ignorance of his condition and his resultant refusal to accept the competent diagnosis of others.

For the most part, the wife or the family of an alcoholic can do little toward convincing a man that he is an alcoholic, or that he is becoming one. This is due to the close emotional relationship existing and it accounts for the failure of most of the pleadings, threats and promises that come in vain from those close within the family circle. Very often, someone outside the family will prove more effective in convincing the problem drinker of his serious condition and his need for help. If any one can counsel the drinker to recognize his plight, he may be responsive to helpful measures. The family doctor, a psychiatrist, the church pastor, or a member of Alcoholics Anonymous may prove influential in arousing the drinker's concern over his drinking problem.

The alcoholic's usual defiant attitude is very apt to exhaust the patience of those wanting to help him. Out of sheer desperation, they may turn loose a stream of criticism hoping to stir the alcoholic into constructive thinking about his condition. However, such an attack is of little, if any avail. It merely produces resentment and usually prods the alcoholic on to the point where he gets drunk or drunker because of the hostile invasion on what he unfortunately considers his private life. The alcoholic's private drinking career as well as his life sooner or later is most likely to become one of public concern.

The first step in the proposed recovery effort is to calmly and intelligently assist the alcoholic to realize that he has a very definite drinking problem, in spite of his own personal opinion to the contrary. The second step involves guiding him to a realization that his own efforts to solve the problem will not succeed. The third and most significant phase comes when the drinker is convinced that his role as a useful human being is fast nearing a painful end through his uncontrolled drinking. With the arrival of this realization, he is most apt to recognize his powerlessness over alcohol and be ready to desire and accept assistance from those willing and able to help him.

Anyone trying to help an alcoholic should cultivate a spirit of tolerance, yet adopt a rather casual attitude in all contacts with him. It is certainly best not to anticipate any immediate recovery, but rather to be prepared for some resistance and possible "slips." No one can undo over night that which has taken years to develop. Family, friends and employer should be enlisted in any recovery program, and they should be acquainted with the underlying factors of alcoholism, for their intelligent cooperation is essential.

Past experience with recovered alcoholics has revealed the wisdom to influence the drinker to view his problem as being very serious, or that it threatens to become so. Once he is faced with these possibilities, he must decide that either he has a problem, or will have one, and must do something about it, or he has none and can therefore continue his drinking. The former decision would open the door to recovery efforts, while the latter would close it, at least until he has suffered longer and become self-convinced of his helplessness.

The alcoholic can enjoy recovery as long as he never takes another drink. However, it would seem unwise for anyone to dictate complete abstinence to the victim at the very outset of a recovery approach, particularly if he is just emerging from a prolonged drinking bout. This might prove as disastrous as the waving of a red flag before a bull's eyes. Any attempt to convince him that he must not drink again because of his drinking calamities of the past will ordinarily be ignored. He must realize from his own personal experiences that his drinking record is sufficient evidence to prove that he cannot handle alcohol in any form or quantity. One should try to convince the alcoholic that he is headed for greater disaster unless something is done to stop the drinking. Suggestion may be made that he consult a physician or psychiatrist interested in the medical problem of alcoholism. Then again, contact with some recovered alcoholic may well have more influence with the victim than any other source because of mutual understanding existent among alcoholics.

It is well to remember that the alcoholic is a die-hard. He will undoubtedly feel that he can solve his own problem and may come up with any number of ingenious ideas for controlling his drinking. Pledges, physical exercises, hobbies, change of scenery or job, and new associations may be his answer. In some instances, rare as they are, successful results have been realized by self-designed efforts. However, for the majority of alcoholics, outside help is the only answer. When the alcoholic fails to maintain recovery by his own plans, he may suddenly realize that he cannot cope with the problem by himself and be ready to accept help from others without any further reservations as to his own abilities along this line.

Still, it is well to bear in mind that the feeling of helplessness which today prompts him to surrender completely, may not be so helpless tomorrow. He may not feel so dependent on outside help. Nevertheless, progress can be chartered, for his defense has obviously weakened and much of the influence directed to him has found its mark. At least, concern has been generated within him and this is something.

Pampering the alcoholic has no place in any recovery program. The helping person can be tolerant and understanding without going overboard with over-indulgence. The alcoholic is usually the product of over-indulgence and the sooner he realizes that he must give in order to get, the quicker will he acquire a sense of needed self-reliance. He should be persuaded logically that there is help available, if he will accept it, and cooperate with those wanting to help.

The alcoholic must be assured that recovery can be attained and that it is worthwhile. The history of other alocholics who have recovered is the conclusive proof that it can be done and is worth doing.

The next article presents the various kinds of alcoholic treatment.

Union P.T.A. Has Founder's Program

Members of the Union Parent-Teachers' Association met Wednesday evening at the school, with president, Mrs. Connerly, conducting business. Mrs. Edward Donnley led the group in reading the P.T.A. prayer, with Mrs. Fox giving the secretary's report.

Mrs. Connerly announced that there would be an executive board meeting on March 15. A gold leaf certificate award was received from the state membership committee chairman for a membership increase during the year. The school dental clinic problem was discussed at great length by the members. Mrs. McCartney's class of the Scotland Lane school won the attendance banner for having the most parents represented at the meeting. The unit voted to sponsor a Girl Scout troop at Union high school.

Mrs. Forrest Farrington had charge of the program for the evening, with Mr. James, music supervisor, leading the members in group singing. Past presidents were presented by Mrs. Farrington, with each giving interesting highlights of their term of office. The past presidents included M. K. Cox, Claude Patton, Calib Green, Mrs. Bert Coates, Mrs. Whiting, Mrs. Edward Donnley, Mrs. Mike Bowden and Mrs. Margaret Grittie.

Mr. James entertained the group by playing selections from "The Merry Widow" and "The Rose of Tralee" on the alto horn. Principal, J. Arthur Turek, gave a few remarks to the members.

"What It Means To Belong To the P.T.A." was discussed by Mrs. Margaret Grittie, and a cake walk, led by Jack Jones, brought the program to a close. Proceeds of this event went to the Founder's Day fund. Refreshments were served by the social committee.

PORK AND EGGS

NEW YORK—(INS)—The plentiful pork and eggs predicted for January at reasonable prices should be helpful to food shoppers with slim post-holiday pocketbooks. Supplies of pork are expected to be very large this month, the seasonal high point. As for eggs, the supply is rising seasonally in January and prices generally are below those of recent months.

Kiwanis Club Honors Scouts

Fathers And Sons Day Also Observed

New Castle Kiwanis club honored members of Boy Scout Troop 37, which is sponsored by the club, and also honored the fathers and sons of club members at the weekly meeting of the club in The Castleton, Wednesday noon.

Past President Alfred H. Meller presided, and in connection with the program, auctioned off a collection of bird houses and bird feeders, which had been built by members of the club. The auction netted the troop around $25, which will be used for a worthy purpose by the troop.

Dick Taylor won the contest for having the best birdhouse in the exhibit.

Troop Wins Honors

Richard Black, who served as mayor during Boy Scout week, was introduced and spoke of how much scouting had meant in his life, and of what it can mean in the life of all youths.

Peter Grittie, chairman of the Kiwanis Boy Scout Troop Committee, was presented with third place ribbon won by Troop 37 for taking part actively in Scout Week and the tureen dinner, and a shield for completion of its program during the year. The Scoutmaster of Troop 37 is Lee Whiting.

Joseph C. Hildebrand, the new scout executive, was introduced and praised the Kiwanis club members who are taking an active part in scouting. Past President Tom Paden, being president of the Boy Scout Council. The strength of scouting, he pointed out, lies in its volunteer workers and Kiwanians are doing a splendid job in this movement.

Mr. Hildebrand's talk was along a similar vein as that given before the Rotary club, on Monday.

It was announced by President David L. Gattrall, that the club will be hosts to Lt. Governor, Dr. Lawrence D. Smith, of Beaver Falls, at next Wednesday's meeting, and will be addressed by Dr. Smith.

In Vaughan's Office

—Acme Telephoto

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Veronica Donovan Jolly, shown above in a recent passport photo, was identified as the alien office worker in the White House. Secretary to Major General, Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, the Australian woman was granted permanent residence in this country last year by special legislation sponsored by the late Rep. John B. Sullivan (D.-Mo.). The above photo was made for her application for citizenship.

Purchasing Agents Meet

Members of the Purchasing Agents Association of New Castle were addressed by George Henry, associate editor of the Midwest Purchasing Agent, the magazine for purchasing agents, at their monthly dinner meeting in The Castleton, Wednesday evening, which was presided over by E. Frank Strizzi.

Mr. Henry's subject was "Purchasing Theory And The Code of Ethics," in which he outlined many points which will be helpful to local purchasing agents, in their business, particularly as materials become hard to secure.

His talk was followed by an open forum when problems affecting the purchasing agent were discussed, and mutual ideas were exchanged.

CITY HALF HOLIDAY

Employes of city hall were off duty at noon today because of Washington's birthday.

H. Clayton Jones Dies In Lakewood, O.

H. Clayton Jones, 61, formerly a New Castle man, died in his home at 11109 Linnett avenue, Lakewood, O., on Wednesday, February 21.

Mr. Jones was the superintendent of the mechanical division and chairman of the mechanical department of Republic Steel in Cleveland, O. He started his steel mill career in New Castle with the Carnegie Steel Company and later went to Duluth, Minn.

As a boy he attended the New Castle public schools and in his high school days was a star athlete and prominent in other high school activities. He was ne of the original members of the "Alley Rats".

State Capitol

May Draft New Constitution

Matter Discussed In State Assembly

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—There is some sentiment for setting up the machinery to draft a new constitution for the commonwealth but so far nothing to indicate the necessary enabling legislation will have clear sailing in the General Assembly. . . . Opponents to revision point out that the federal constitution has been on the books since 1789 and no attempt has been successful to rewrite the document although 21 amendments have been adopted. . . . Pennsylvania is operating under its fourth constitution in 175 years. . . . It has been amended 69 times. . . . The one which currently is the supreme law of the commonwealth became operative January 1, 1874, following its adoption by a better than 2 to 1 vote. . . . Pennsylvania had a population of approximately 3,521,000 in the fall of 1873 when the constitutional revision question was put to the voters. . . . Using the rule of thumb that 50 per cent of the population was entitled to vote, the record shows that only 352,338 votes were cast on the proposal or less than 10 per cent. . . . Constitutional revisionists claim the commonwealth's document must be brought up to date in keeping with modern thinking.

Construction of a seventh major office building in the state capitol group will not be pushed until some definite policy is enunciated by federal agencies which have restricted certain types of building. . . . If ever completed, not only would it allow the commonwealth to stop paying rent to private landlords throughout Harrisburg for office space, but would open the door to sale of various properties bought by the state to house various agencies. . . . The proposed new building would supplement those known as the main, north, south, finance, education and northwest. . . . In addition, four two-story frame and stucco buildings officially referred to as "temporary" have squatted in the shadow of the main building ever since 1918.

The State Game Commission has reported that snakes have been seen in the early weeks of 1951 despite the unusually cold weather. . . . Game Protector R. E. Holtzapple, of Snyder county, wrote the commission of finding a three-foot black snake on the eastern end of Shade Mountain. . . . Game Officer Clair W. Dinger, of Albion, reported finding a 20-inch garter snake in the woods near his home. . . . Later, Dinger said, published reports in a Greenville newspaper described two "snow snakes."

Senate Majority Leader John M. Walker, who has had more than his share of what he indicates is unwanted publicity this session, received another jolt from a photographer. . . . Intrigued by news of the $18,000 conference room in the rear of the Senate chamber, a photographer wanted Walker to "pose" by stretching out on one of the plush lounges. . . . Walker reddened, refused and said he drew the line between publicity and notoriety.

One of the lieutenants of U. S. Sen. James H. Duff reports that the ex-governor believes Governor Fine will be ill-advised if he demands that the penny-a-bottle soft drink levy be allowed to drop off the tax schedule at the end of the biennium. . . . Duff was said to have pointed out that the furor over the tax has died and consumers pay the levy without fuss. . . . The only opposition is from a soft drink lobby primed by John R. Hood, onetime Harrisburg newspaper advertising official and former head of the state publications bureau during the last Pinchot administration. . . . Duff apparently cannot reconcile Fine's recent announcement that a "great deal" of new revenue will be needed in the next biennium with a campaign pledge to drop the soft drink tax which wields about $30,000,000 a biennium.

Plan Probe Into Alleged Black Market In Drug

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Plans for a citywide investigation into alleged black market operations in the drug cortisone were announced today by Assistant Health Department Commissioner Jerome Trichter.

Drug stores and wholesale supply houses throughout the five boroughs will be checked by department investigators "in a full inquiry" into the current illict traffic, Trichter said.

Announcement of the probe came two days after the New York Journal-American reported that treatment of hundreds of arthritic patients was endangered due to a crucial shortage, while the precious drug had dissapeared into the black market to be sold abroad.

Acheson Denies U.S. Proposes Pacific Pact

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(INS) Secretary of State Acheson on Wednesday scotched reports that the United States has proposed a plan for a Pacific defense pact similar to the North Atlantic Alliance.

Acheson told a news conference that there are many plans under discussion, but added that "it is impossible at this time to say what plan or proposal can be agreed upon or whether, in fact, any proposal will find ultimate general acceptance."

The secretary's statement was apparently inspired by reports that U. S. special Ambassador John Foster Dulles, who is working on the Japanese peace treaty, had proposed an alliance between the U. S., Australia and New Zealand with other Far Eastern democracies to be admitted later.

Acheson declined to comment on this report but in a formal statement he emphasized that developments in the Far East such as the aggression in Korea and other danger spots cause the United States and all people in the area to be "deeply and vitally concerned."

New Baby Care Course Offered

A new course in the care of babies and small children is being offered by the American Red Cross and the Adult Education department of the New Castle Public Schools.

The classes will meet twice a week for a term of six weeks and will be offered without tuition or fee charges.

The lessons will be given by a registered nurse who has developed them to meet the needs of expectant mothers and those with very young children. She has conferred with local physicians who have assisted her and who have indicated interest in this type of course.

The classes will be limited to not more than 20 persons to permit informality and personal discussion. The first meeting will be held at the New Castle senior high school on Tuesday evening, February 27, at 7 o'clock. For information, call the office of the vocational director, 5891. Please do not call the Senior high school during the day, since this course is not a part of the day-school program.

Twelve Units

The 12 units of the course will be:

1. Before the baby comes. What constitutes good care in safe guarding the lives of mothers and babies.
2. Physiology (anatomy) in relation to obstetrics.
3. Creation of a new life.
4. How the baby develops before birth. Periods of development.
5-6. The birth of the baby. Planned care and expectant mother-medical, nutritional, and emotional. Hospital procedure before, during, and after the baby is born.
7. Nursing care of the new born child.
8. The baby's first year. Food and equipment, sleep, exercise, fresh air, and clothing. Nursing care of infants' ailments.
9. Emotional and physical development of the growing child.
10. Protection of the small child against contagious disease and infections.
11. Illnesses and infections of children. Home nursing care of small child during illness. Symptoms and similarity of childhood diseases and how to tell them apart.
12. Summary of course and review of procedures. Emphasize that parents should consult physicians rather than rely upon non-professional opinion and advice.

Gen. Bradley Sees Military Service For Youth For Years

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 22—(INS)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley believes that for the next 10 or 15 years every American youth "must contribute in some manner to our military strength."

Gen. Bradley issued his prediction in accepting an Honorary Doctorate of International Law at Pennsylvania Military College last night.

Each citizen will be willing to make a personal sacrifice, the general said, when he realizes that national security depends upon individual security.

Asked at a news conference if he thought the Chinese Communists could drive the United Nations troops out of Korea, Gen. Bradley replied:

"If they are willing to pay a terrific price, they might."

He added, however, that American military leaders believe they can hold out indefinitely in Korea.

Denying that he had any intention of recalling Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gen. Bradley commented that "MacArthur commands the theater" and that "we've never tried to command from here."

MIRROR AID

CINCINNATI, O.—(INS)—Often laughed-at suggestions that mirrors be used to aid drivers in seeing around corners and over hills are proving no laughing matter whatsoever. At a T-intersection in the country near Cincinnati a large mirror has been in place for four years. Motorists thus have a periscope view around what otherwise would be a "blind" corner. Not a single accident has occurred since the mirror was put in place.

NEWSMAP HERE SHOWS THE STRING OF AIRFIELDS circling from Germany, through Britain, along North Africa and into the oil-rich Middle East being lined up American Strategic Air Command for use by U. S. planes "in event of war". The total of Air Force personnel along this chain is about 20,000 men. Around 500 bombers, fighters, troop carriers and transports are already placed along the line. More important, however, is the potential capacity of these bases in wartime to be immediately available to United States planes. In case of Red aggression, Allied air power would be able to strike at the industrial heart of Russia and her satellites.

Confidential White House Secretary Australian Citizen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(INS)—Mrs. Veronica Jolly continued to evade newsmen today who wish to question her about her job as a confidential White House secretary despite her status as an Australian citizen.

Mrs. Jolly, 41, who has been holding down the post of secretary to Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughn, President Truman's military aide, since Dec. 1, absented herself from the White House yesterday because of a "headache."

Efforts by newsmen to see her at her home last night resulted in an explanation that she was "out for the evening."

It semed unlikely that the stunning brunette would appear at the White House today in view of the fact that most federal employes observe the Washington birthday holiday.

Vaughn himself has refused to talk to newsmen about Mrs. Jolly.

Mrs. Jolly, who receives a salary of $4,600 annually, is a citizen of Australia, but was granted "the status of permanent residence" in the U. S. under legislation introduced by the late Rep. John Sullivan (D) Mo.

"Barricade" literally means "made from barrels."

Accident-Free Record At Ellwood Plant Is Ended

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 22—Surpassing the previous safety record for the entire American steel industry by well over a million man-hours, Ellwood Works of U. S. Steel's National Tube Company finally ended their string of 385 accident-free days yesterday when an employe was treated for a foot injury.

Since the last lost-time accident at the plant, the 3,300 employes had amassed a total of 6,743,644 man-hours of safe work, dating back to January 29, 1950. The previous best safety record in the nation's steel industry was 5,598,367 man-hours without a lost-time mishap.

It is a coincidence that the last lost-time accident at the Ellwood City plant of U. S. Steel previous to yesterday's also resulted in an employe suffering a broken toe from a falling piece of steel.

In yesterday's accident, a steel piercing plug struck the employe's extended foot at an angle so that the sharp end of the plug went behind the safety toe guard on the man's shoe, resulting in the injury.

Only three men are required to simulate the tread of several hundred marching men for radio purposes.

Temple Men's Club Event February 28

Temple Israel Men's club planned for a dinner-meeting on Wednesday, February 28, at 6:30 o'clock.

Reservations are to be in by February 26, according to an announcement. A speaker will be featured with motion pictures and entertainment to follow. Members of the program committee are in charge. A good turnout is expected to be present.

Says Europe Ground Force Is Essential

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The air force's strategic bombing chief told Congress Wednesday that air power could knock out Russia's war potential but that a "defensive" ground force in Europe is essential.

Lt. Gen. Curtis Lemay went on record against the Wherry resolution to limit troop commitments on the ground that it would "tie the hands" of military leaders by forcing Congress to shape military policy.

Lemay began his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees by stating the commitment of a land army to Europe should be "avoided if possible."

Then, Chairman Connally (D) Tex., asked if Lemay opposes sending troops to Europe. He replied in the negative. Connally asked if he favored sending a land army and Lemay replied:

"Yes sir—provided it is used for defensive purposes."

Must Have Something On Ground

Asked if he thought "any amount of tactical air strength" could stop a land attack, Lemay testified:

"No, Sir. I think you have to have something on the ground."

And in reply to questions of Sen. Smith (R) N.J., the general explained:

"Resistance by some ground troops is essential. I have said that strategic airpower could destroy the industrial potential behind such an attack. But the enemy would have resources in the field and something must be in place until they use up those resouces."

When asked whether American air power could punish Russia to submission if she attacked, Lemay said he did not known and this was what he is trying to find out.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT

(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22—Egypt's gift to the screen is prepping for her movie debut by brushing up on her English with the bobby soxers at Hollywood High by day and practicing a watered-down version of the belly dance at night.

She is Lady Kismet Sherin, the 21-year-old daughter of a top Egyptian political figure, and she was personally selected by King Farouk to portray the leading role in a Hollywood flicker with an Egyptian background.

The "lady" tag is given to daughters of the cream of Cairo and Alexandra society. The movies would never be for the likes of her if the king had not decided that a society girl, and not a professional actress, be given the exacting part in the picture, "Mohammed Ali Pasha", based on the life and times of one of Farouk's ancestors.

Filmed in Cairo

The picture also will star Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and a yet-to-be-named French actress with Gene Markey handling the producing-directing.

The film will be made in Cairo and will go out in three languages, English, French and Arabic.

Kismet says that all the girls learn the belly dance in Egypt, although they call it the "beladi" over there.

"It is a very beautiful dance and very sexy," says the daughter of the Nile. "Sometimes it lasts for half an hour. It is too sexy for American peoples, so I am practicing to make it not so hot."

Keeps Wolves Away

Kismet goes to classes at Hollywood high school to learn the American vernacular and work toward losing her accent. She wears slacks and no makeup when she goes to school, mainly to ward off the juvenile wolves.

At night she is a different person when she rolls up the rugs, puts on a pile of recordings of drums and swings and sways in the beladi.

Kismet says that she is beginning to get homesick for Cairo because everybody runs around too much in America, especially in Hollywood.

"Everyone is in a hurry here," she complains. "People never relax and take it easy. In Egypt we entertain a lot in our homes instead of going out. Sometimes I wonder if American people aren't ashamed of their homes."

Got Bitten Early

Kismet got the movie bug at an early age and she was identified in the Cairo gossip columns as a "high society girl, critic and artist". She appeared in numerous plays for charity. The king caught her performance on one occasion and he was so impressed by her tall, willowy grace that he teasingly called her "the giraffe".

Kismet divides her free time between the Hollywood studios and Las Vegas. She claims that Las Vegas has everything and that it is like Europe, what with casinos, smart people and carefree living.

The Egyptian beauty wants to go on record that American males have it all over the Egyptians when it comes to looks, but that they are awfully spoiled. Says Kismet:

"American women are too cold. They have forgotten how to be feminine. I don't see how they get a man at all."

BETTER CHANCE

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Handicapped people all over the United States are going to have a better chance to lead a normal life, thanks to the efforts of an energetic Clevland woman. Mary Hays Heiner, the live-wire president of the Cleveland Hearing and Speech Center, is raising funds to build a million-dollar institution to help rehabilitate the deaf and the dumb.

In the early 1900s in America, pig iron was traded as a commodity like grain, sugar, coffee or cocoa.

Dr. Flannery Gives Heart Disease Facts

Most persons with heart disease don't have to give up their jobs and take to their beds, Dr. W. E. Flannery, stated today, in urging support of the 1951 Heart Fund campaign.

Usually, diseases of the heart and blood vessels are chronic in nature. Many heart patients can work at jobs which fit their heart capacities, he stated, and under the advice and guidance of their doctor, can enjoy years of happy and useful living.

These and other vital facts about heart disease should be known by everyone, and funds secured in the heart fund campaign will help to disseminate this information.

Signal Lights Meet Tuesday

Mrs. W. T. Jones Thanks For Gift

In the ladies' parlor of the Mahoning Methodist church members of the Signal Light Bible class gathered Tuesday evening. Devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. H. L. Fry, who gave a reading entitled, "A Mile and a Half to Church".

Mrs. Edna Gilbert, president, was in charge of the business session, when plans for future work were discussed. Mrs. W. T. Jones thanked the class for their beautiful gift, presented to her and her husband at their golden wedding anniversary last Sunday.

Mrs. M. M. Tindall, teacher, led in the study of the evening lesson in Romans. A tasty lunch was served by Mrs. Etta Barnett and Mrs. G. G. Emerick and their units.

Next meeting of the group will be on Tuesday evening, March 20, with Mrs. R. W. Wilson and her unit in charge.

Scout Troop 4 Meets Awards Distributed

In Mahoning school, Boy Scout troop No. 4 asesmbled Tuesday evening with Scoutmaster Bill Weitz; Don Weisbaker and John Hall, assistants, in charge.

During the opening exercises Bill Weitz presented merit cards to Scouts who have recently earned them; also the first individual prize-winner, James DoVidio, who was unable to be present at the last presentation event.

The troop was presented with first place award, which they had won for fulfilling all the requirements in the 1950 Boy Scout "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" campaign. This award was in the form of a silken plaque to be sewn on the troop flag.

The various patrols went into their corners and transacted their business affairs. The boys enjoyed an hour play period engaged in game of basketball in the gymnasium.

Meeting was formally closed. Troop to meet Tuesday, Feb. 27, at seven p. m.

Beaver Scout Patrol Enjoys Recent Hike

At the home of John Porter, the Beaver patrol of Boy Scout troop No. 4 will meet on Friday evening on West Clayton street at seven o'clock.

Recently the patrol went for a hike at 11:30 in the morning to the region of the stone quarry on West Washington street etxension.. The group took provisions along, did some cooking and ate their dinner in that location. Later the boys enjoyed a game of "hooky".

John Porter was patrol leader and William Shaffer was scribe. In the group were also Gene Jacobs, Robert Zidow, Walter Smoot, Bobby Lee, Kenneth Turk.

Next hike will be Saturday, Feb. 26, leaving West Clayton street at 11:30 and going to a northern location.

Methodists Plan Day Of Dedication

Sunday morning the Mahoning Methodist church will observe a day of dedication. The pastor of the church, Rev. O. G. Shindledecker, will have returned from taking part in a program of evangelism in the Aspinwall Methodist church of the Pittsburgh conference.

The local church has recently participated in a like program and will be planning for both a day of dedication of personal lives as well as material substance in an effort to better serve the kingdom of God.

Girl Scouts No. 30 Plan Mothers, Daughters Tea

Members of the Girl Scout troop 30 assembled Wednesday afternoon in Mt. Jackson high school after school sessions, with Mrs. Thomas Martin, Mrs. Elmer Shaffer, Mrs. Lester Hammond and Mrs. R. Morris, leaders in charge.

Jo Ann Plevnic was in charge of the opening exercises and business session. Plans were made for the mothers' and daughters' tea to be held Saturday, Feb. 24, at 2:30 in the Mt. Jackson high school.

The group worked on their troop dramatic badge and preparations were made for the program to precede the tea Saturday.

For adjournment the girls joined in the friendship circle and the singing of "Taps".

KEEP LAYERS EATING TO AVOID EGG SLUMP

One of the main reasons for a slump in egg production is a declining feed consumption. If poultrymen detect a decline in feed consumption that they can follow certain practices which increase the feed intake.

One way to increase feed consumption is to furnish mash in a different and appealing form. Wet mash, made by mixing mash and water, is very appealing to the birds. Moisten 3 pounds of dry mash for each 100 birds. Since mixing wet mash is quite laborious, just pour 2 quarts of water per 100 birds over the dry mash in the feeders for the same effect. Another form of mash to increase intake is pellets. Feed the amount of pellets the birds will clean up in one hour. Chickens are fond of both wet mash and pellets and both methods of feeding are helpful in getting more mash into them.

Feeding supplements, such as semi-solid milk or grass silage, is a good way to increase feed intake. Semi-solid milk should be fed at the rate of 3 pounds per day for 100 birds and grass silage 5 pounds per 100 birds.

Providing ample feeding space is important in maintaining maximum feed intake. At least 25 feet of feeder space should be provided for 100 birds. Many poultrymen have found that frequent stirring of the mash in troughs has helped to increase the mash intake. If hens show preference for certain grains, the amount should be increased in the scratch mixture.

PORTABLE TABLE SAVES LABOR FOR DAIRYMEN

Many milk plants are installing a labor-saving table on wheels. It is similar to a tea table, except it has a screened top. This table has many uses. It can be moved to a piece of equipment that needs cleaning. After dismantling the table, it can be moved to a sink for washing.

When the equipment is washed the parts are put on the clean stainless steel screened top to drain and dry.

The clean equipment is stored on the table until it is sanitized and put together for use.

Dairy farmers who produce milk could use to advantage similar equipment in their milk houses. It would save labor and provide a table top for dismantling the milking machine. It would provide an ideal surface for storing the equipment until ready for assembly and sanitization just prior to use.

CHILDREN CAN DEVISE OWN PLAY EQUIPMENT

Children enjoy playing with furniture and other objects normally found in the house often more than with their own toys. Recent research by the School of Home Economics of the Pennsylvania State college show this to be true, and parents can bear it out in their own observations of children's play.

When shoved together, chairs may make a train; when tipped over, they become a tunnel; and when covered with a blanket make a tent.

Children enjoy playing in the kitchen, too. Some mothers set aside a lower portion of cabinet for a child's use. In it she may put such objects, as nested measuring cups, colander, wooden spoons, spatula, pans, and bowl.

When you are busy cooking, your child will be all set to make a cake too. It keeps him nearby and at the same time gives him something to do to keep out from under your feet. Working with dough or mixing things together is just his speed. He not only enjoys doing it, but also gains some skills which carry over into other activities, like feeding himself and helping around the house.

GOOD CALVES NEEDED FOR 4-H DAIRY WORK

This is the time of year when the "hunt begins" for suitable calves for 4-H dairy clubs. The job of locating good calves is not always an easy one. There are important points in selecting calves—type and production.

The purchaser must know something about the production potential of the calves being selected. This means investigating D. H. I. A. records of the dams. If possible, select calves from cows that have produced at least 400 pounds of butterfat on a 305-day two-time milking. The calf should be sired by a proven sire or a son of a proven sire. Production records are the only sure way to gauge the production ability of a calf. Club members should start calves as a 4-H dairy project before the calves are six months old. This provides a better opportunity for the club members to get the calf started properly and to keep a more complete record up to freshening time.

Type and conformation of the animal fit in with the production. A calf should be selected that has a straight back, strong legs, and a deep rib. The animal should appear clean cut and be thrifty and vigorous. The teat placement should be wide and symmatrical. A calf may change in appearance from the time it is 3 or 4 months old to the time it matures as a cow. Proper feeding and management aid in growing out calves to look their best. However, the inherited characteristics of an animal cannot be changed by management practices.

A well-bred purebred calf can be the foundation of a future dairy herd. It costs no more to raise a good calf than a poor one. Over a longer period of time a carefully selected purebred calf can add much more to a dairy herd than an ordinary animal selected at random.

Prospective club members should start now to look for calves that will make suitable animals for 4-H dairy projects and high-producing animals as cows. Aim to select calves of good type with ancestors that indicate a high level of production.

KENLAND CLOVER SEED AVAILABLE

Certified seed of Kenland clover, promising new medium red variety, is available this year at a fair price.

It may cost a dollar more to sow an acre with Kenland than with ordinary run-or-mill red clover but the added cost may prove a good investment. Kenland can be counted upon to produce an extra one-half to one ton of hay per acre.

Kenland is not a wonder variety, but will give good, dependenable production if grown properly. It is resistant to Southern anthracnose. Well-established local strains of red clover may be as good as Kenland but ordinarily little seed is available.

FRUIT AND JUICES BEST SOURCE OF VITAMIN C

Vitamin C helps keep body tissues in good condition. It is not stored by the body, so it is important that you get a supply every day.

Eating fruit or drinking fruit juice for breakfast is a good habit. It wakes you up and provides the vitamin C you need. Citrus fruits are the best source of vitamin C and you can use either the fresh, frozen, or canned product. Let price and availability be the guide in purchasing.

Store fresh fruit in a cool place and prepare it just before serving to get maximum vitamin C. At times, the frozen juice concentrate is less expensive than the fruit itself. Mix the concentrate with water according to directions and store in the refrigerator. To retain the most vitamin C, keep the mixed concentrate in a tightly-covered container in the coldest part of the refrigerator.

Canned citrus juices are usually the least expensive. Keep them chilled and tightly covered after opening. One-half cup serving of any of the juices or one whole orange or one-half grapefruit will give you the amount of vitamin C needed for a day.

Tomato juice is another good source of vitamin C, but it takes twice as much to give you all you need. Powdered ascorbic acid added to tomato juice will increase the C content. Add it when you can or serve tomato juice.

Other juices, such as apple, pineapple, apricot, or grape juice, contain very little vitamin C. If you use these juices instead of citrus fruit or juices for breakfast, the noon and evening meals must include other vitamin C. rich foods.

PLAN STORAGE TO FIT FAMILY NEEDS

When building a new house, families plan storage to suit their needs. Better storage in a house already built usually means remodeling. Better storage requires planning and consideration of the family's needs. Attractiveness is as desirable as usefulness.

Before starting any storage plan, have the family get together to talk over the needs and desires and to discuss ways of making the best use of the space. Consider places where articles may be stored most conveniently and look for storage spaces that are often wasted, like under stairways or slanting roofs.

Another item to discuss at the family get-together is the talent each member can contribute to the storage plan and what home-grown supplies are available. If all the storage problems cannot be settled at one time, probably a long-term plan would be the answer. Make a complete plan, then work toward doing the most important things first.

Harlansburg P.T.A. Meets At School

Members of the Harlansburg Parent-Teachers' Association celebrated Founder's Day when they met recently at the school.

The program commenced with a piano solo by Kay Johnson, with the founding of the P.T.A. discussed by Mrs. Howard Glenn, program chairman. "Founding of Founder's Day" was presented by Mrs. Leona Flack, with Mrs. Mildred Uber and Mrs. Joe McMichael reading poems pertaining to P.T.A. Mrs. Martha North concluded the program by reading "My Tribute."

A valentine party was an additional attraction of the evening, with Mrs. Morrow receiving a prize for the most original.

Lunch was later served by the social committee, with the March meeting set for the fifteenth of the month.

Men In Uniform Everywhere

LA SALLE STREET STATION, CHICAGO, Feb. 22 — They are everywhere; the railroad stations and the trains are full of them: the quiet, sober young men in the uniform of the U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines.

And for the life of me, I cannot tell whether the yare eighteen or nineteen, or old men of twenty. They all look terribly young and teribly serious.

Surprisingly

The multitude of men in uniform surprises me. Doubtless it is because I live in New York and the very magnitude of the city so far swallows up the men in uniform—although even five years ago they were predominant of the city's streets.

While the great debate on foreign policy goes on in Washington and Congress wrangles over the drafting of eighteen year olds, the young men have been quietly getting into uniform. For them, the debates are almost purely academic.

They are in all stages of training and military competence. On my left, as I write this, is a group of twenty boys who are in uniform only in the loosest sense of the phrase. So far, Uncle Sam obviously has only had time to supply each with an army overcoat and overseas cap.

They huddle together self-consciously, as if for mutual protection, their civilian clothes betraying ther tenderfoot status in the army.

On my right, is the finished product. Here are a dozen men who have certainly been at least through basic training. Their overcoats are neatly piled on their stacked barracks bags, bulging as do the barracks bags of soldiers who have packed for a long, long journey. It could be Korea.

So Quiet and Orderly

Above the travelers aid booth there is a big sign: "Information, Service Men." And nearby is another large placard reading "Service Men's Center" and listed below are the addresses of such centers in Chicago.

And they are all so quiet and orderly, the boys in navy, khaki and air force blue.

There is no horseplay or boisterousness. On the trains and in the railroad stations, one is conscious of them only because of their number.

At 7 o'clock in the morning, I sat at the lunch counter in the station at Minneapolis, trying to drink enough coffee to pry my eyes open before boarding the early train for Chicago.

I had hardly ordered my coffee when a young soldier entered at the head of a straggling troop of civilians for whom the transition into solders was just beginning.

In Civilian Clothes

They were still in civilian clothes—the felt hat, the neat, dark suit and overcoat of the white-collar man; the heavy shoes, the work pants and the short, thick plaid mackinaw of the farm boy. They were wearing exactly what they had worn when they dropped the pencil or the plow.

Almost painfully self-conscious, they straggled along after the soldier in single and unorderly file.

A big sergeant, pushing fifty and obviously in the army since birth, came in, looked the group over professionally and retired to the lobby.

When I paid my check and started for the train, I passed the sergeant. I told him I had counted 61 recruits and asked him if such a large group was often assembled in Minneapolis.

"There are really 96, ma'm," he said, pointing to the kids crowded around the magazine and candy counters. "There just isn't room enough to feed 'em all at once.

"And we assemble and ship out that many every day," he added. "Every day, we ship that number to Fort Lewis. That's near Seattle. God's county, ma'm. The next time you see 'em, they'll be men and soldiers."

State Compiles Case History Of Motorists

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22 — The practice of compiling "case histories" of automobile drivers has been paying off in lives saved on Pennsylvania's highways, Otto F. Messner, secretary of revenue, disclosed today.

By checking carefully into the causes of road mishaps, keeping close track of accident-prone operators, and re-examining drivers who become "suspect", the commonwealth is gradually weeding out the incompetents, he said.

"I don't believe it is generally known," Messner added, "that the driving careers of our nearly four million autoists are kept under pretty close scrutiny. Illnesses, injuries, delinquencies—anything which bears upon their capability at the wheel—are watched constantly and adjudged from the standpoint of safety for everyone. Unquestionably, the system has contributed greatly to the state's good traffic record."

He revealed that potentially dangerous drivers, among them epileptics, diabetics, alcoholics and sufferers from heart trouble, all are subject to special investigation after which they are permitted to operate only if state police and various authorities recommend it.

Only Superficial Damage Done To U.S. Destroyer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(INS)—The navy said today that only superficial damage was suffered by the U. S. destroyer Ozbourne when it was struck by two 75 milimeter shells fired from Communist shore batteries from the harbor at Wonsan, Korea, February 18.

Two seamen were slightly injured by shrapnel, but have returned to duty. The navy said it was issuing the statement to counteract a Communist radio claim that the vessel was sunk.

Emphasizes Need Of Planting Forest Trees In State

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Production and Marketing Administration committee chairman Clyde A. Zehner is emphasizing the importance of planting forest trees on land not suitable for cultivation.

Pennsylvania farmers planted 2,186 acres in forest trees during 1949, he says, and early tabulations for 1950 indicate an increase will be recorded for 1950.

He said farmers enrolling in the 1951 program are being encouraged by local PMA committeemen to order thier trees early and increase the plantings still further.

Officials Of Red Cross Meet

Convene With Grange Masters Of County

Red Cross officials met with Lawrence county grange masters and representatives at the chapter house Tuesday night.

Fund chairman L. J. Lewis presided and explained that the purpose of the meeting was to review Red Cross activities in the county and to bring to the attention of the granges the greatly accelerated current needs of the Red Cross, due to the expansion of the armed forces, and the need for preparedness on the home front to meet any emergency that may arise.

Dr. William E. Goodpastor described the Lawrence county civilian blood donor program and stated that the needs of the county hospitals now exceeds 100 pints a month. He also pointed out that blood is furnished when available to the Deshon Veterans hospital.

The increasing needs on the home front including our services to the armed forces was explained in detail by Alexander P. McCready, chairman of home services. Mr. McCready stated that the Red Cross is the link between the serviceman and his home and said that requests of servicemen for emergency furloughs is processed within 24 hours. Last year services of the local chapter were given to 816 servicemen, 1809 veterans and 150 civilians by the home service unit.

Importance of Red Cross

Paul G. Dingledy, deputy coordinator of the civilian defense, told of the important phases of first aid training, nurses aides, home nursing and blood procurement for other civilian needs. The work of the disaster service in the county was described by Andrew M. Dodds. Mr. Dodds displayed a chart which sets up the organizations and procedures so that no time is lost when an emergency call is received.

Frank Gallagher, general field repreentative of the National Red cross in the eastern area, explained the national needs, particularly with reference to the stepped up blood program and the national goal of 1,200,000 pints of blood by June of this year. He concluded by saying that never in the history of this country has it been more necessary for all citizens to think and act constructively and cooperatively for national welfare, possibly even for national survival.

Granges represented at the meeting included: Plain Grove No. 1431, Willard No. 1440, Wilmington No. 1477, Pleasant Hill No. 1505, Westfield No. 1514, East New Castle No. 1536, Big Beaver No. 1578 and East Brook No. 1706.

Small Metals Fabricators Are Being Affected

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Iron Age said today that the shift of the nation's economy from peace to war goods is hitting small metal fabricators, who are being starved by material cutbacks.

The national metalworking weekly said that large defense contracts are not being received by them in quantity. Many of them will get defense contracts or subcontracts, if they can hold out that long. Meanwhile, the publication said, they are in a tough spot.

Iron Age added that his economic dislocation results largely from the time lag in shifting production from peace to war goods. Some of the major contracts that already have been placed will require as much as 18 months for tooling up before assembly line production can begin.

"This explains why the machine tool industry is staggering under an ever increasing backlog of orders, while many small manufacturers face production curtailment. Many of them cannot weather such a long storm."

Denies He 'Peddled' Influence On Loans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(INS)—E. Merl Young, husband of a White House secretary, on Wednesday denied charges that he "peddled" influence to government loan applicants and attributed his rapid financial rise to ambition and hard work.

The dapper little witness testified under oath before a Senate subcommittee investigating RFC lending policies after Ross Bohannon, a Dallas Tex., lawyer, testified that Young had claimed a close connection with William Boyle, Jr., Democratic national committee chairman.

Young is the husband of Loretta Young, who is employed as a secretary for Rose Conway, personal secretary to President Truman.

Life And Death Story Of Suspense At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 21.—(INS)—A life and death story of suspense unfolded dramatically today in the operating room at Frankford hospital where physicians waited for someone to die so that a woman on the operating table might live.

But although the death they awaited finally came, enabling them to use a vital organ of a dead man in an attempt to save the woman's life, the operation failed.

The patient, Mrs. Richard Irvine, 32, mother of three, died seven hours after the operation.

Before the operation, the doctors had carried out a grim vigil waiting for a corpse from which to remove a kidney they needed. Minutes stretched into hours during the tense period.

Slides Of Earth Cause Damage In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Tons of earth and rock sagged against two Pittsburgh homes today after an 18-inch thick retaining wall collapsed.

Three families occupying the houses Tuesday when rain-soaked and sliding grounds began to threaten the homes.

The houses are on a steep hill and neighbors said the landslide has smashed the corner of one of the houses.

Several houses in another part of the city also are threatened by a sliding hill loosened by recent rain. No families have been ordered out in that vicinity yet, but residents report the slide-crevice has moved to within a foot of one house.

And near Aliquippa yesterday, a third hill-slide sent tons of dirt and rocks plunging down on Constitution Boulevard near the point where a rock slide on Dec. 22, 1942, crushed a bus killing more than a score of persons.

Asserts Russia Could Launch A-Bombs On U.S.

By WILLIAM THEIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Harold A. George told Congress today he believes Russia "unquestionably" could now launch an atomic air attack against the United States and denied that Western Europe is America's "first line of defense."

George, retired chief of the air transport command, declared that the nation's chief hope of repelling Russian aggression rests in "our strategic air force."

Takes Sharp Issue

The three-star general took sharp issue with military leaders who have emphasized the supreme importance of holding Western Europe.

He warned against stationing additional United States strategic bombing forces in Europe, contending that in view of Russian strength the big planes should be based in America.

George, now an executive with the Howard Hughes aviation engineering firm, warned that if the United States creates a big army and navy it will not be able to afford a big enough air force.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Ennis C. Whitehead, air defense commander, said the nation's "first priority" in defense is a long-range bomber force to strike a swift counter-blow at any aggressor.

George said he agreed with this "1,000 per cent" but urged air defense strong enough to "punish" enemy attackers severely.

To Make Water Test Of Sodium Fluoride Value In State

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The water supply of a western Pennsylvania utility will be used for the first Pennsylvania test of the value of sodium fluoride as an agent against slow tooth decay, the program will get underway as quickly as possible.

Prescribed amounts of the chemical will be poured into the water supply of Ford City in Armstrong county with the approval of acting Health Secretary Russell E. Teague.

Approval for the test was given on the petitions of the Ford City water works authorities with the endorsement of the board of health, the Armstrong Medical society and dentists in the area.

Teague said the health department will check the effectiveness of the program via the state's school health and dental examination programs.

Scientific research has shown that addition of prescribed amounts of sodium fluoride to water lacking the chemical in its natural state can be helpful in the preservation of teeth. Ford City authorities told Teague the community water supply was completly lacking in fluoride.

Instructor And Student Held In Robbery Effort

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Ann Arbor police today held a University of Michigan instructor and a junior medical student on charges of attempted burglary of a campus drug store.

Detectives quoted 25-year-old Paul Kluth of Chicago, an assistant instructor in Botany, as admitting he attempted to rob the drug store Tuesday night. Felix Mielvynski, 26-year-old student, was accused of acting as a lookout during the attempted burglary.

Police said two students who stopped before the drug store to escape a rainstorm became suspicious of Mielvynski's nervous acting and alerted a beat patrolman.

Police were told Mielvynski quickly walked away and Kluth dropped his loot and fled when they noticed the approaching policeman.

Kluth was arrested yesterday when a drug store employe recognized him as the man who had been loitering near the store at closing time recently.

Kluth and Mielvynski, a Polish displaced person, are roommates.

SEEK HOURS CUT

EAST LIVERPOOL, O.—Council has taken under consideration a request by Fire Chief Charles Bryan to cut the hours of the city's 22 firemen from 72 to 60 a week and adopt a salary scale of $300 to $350 a month. Present pay, just raised 5 per cent, is $263 to $288.

BEAVER TWP.

SILVER TEA HELD

Harold Henderson, an accomplished musician, presented a piano recital of 15 minuts of fine music for a portion of the program presented at the silver tea of the Enon Valley Women's club meeting Monday evening, February 19, in the home of Mrs. George Fawcett.

Mrs. John Holliday, better known here as Miss Hazel Hague, gave a most interesting talk on "Little Known Facts About George Washington," and Richard Fawcett favored with a vocal solo.

The program leader, who introduced the persons presenting the program, was Mrs. Frank Hartford.

At the close of the program a social period was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments being served from a patriotic decorated tea table. Two past president, Mrs. Dale Marshall and Mrs. Dale Russell, presided at the table.

Mrs. Hugh Marshall, president, presided during the business session. For the March Meeting a book review will be given by a guest of the club, Miss Hazel Wenkhous, a member of the Darlington Book club and a teacher in the Darlington school for the past several years.

BEAVER TOWNSHIP NOTES

Paul H. Leslie, who was a patient in the Jameson Memorial hospital a few days, came home last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pyle and Mrs. J. L. McHattie and family were visitor's Monday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George McAnlis.

Mrs. David E. Bickett, student supply at the Rock Spring church, preaching Sunday morning, February 25, and Mrs. John K. Stoner, student minister, will be preaching the sermon Sunday, March 4, at 11 o'clock.

Word recently received here by relatives announcing the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Leslie of Baldwin Park, Calif., who has been named Leonard Eugent. Mr. Leslie spent his childhood days in Little Beaver township, making his home with the Lusk family.

Frank J. Wells arrived home this past week from Arizona. Mr. Wells is recovering from a recent illness. His son, Floyd Wells, of Niagara Falls, was in Arizona, accompanied his father home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Bruce Wallace returned the first of the week from Dover,O., to visit their aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Cope, who has been confined for a short time to her room by illness. Mrs. Cope, having spent several years in the Wallace home in Little Beaver, has many friends in this community.

Production Increase In Middle East

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 22—(INS)—The United States reported today a marked increase in industrial production is the middle east, but a continued serious lag in living standards.

In a special report the U. N. said that steel, electrical, coal and other industries rose to the highest peaks from 1938 to 1948. This rise was noted particularly in Turkey, Egypt and Israel.

An increase in population also was noted in this period, despite poor health conditions in the area.

The report stressed, however, that the middle eastern states are far from realizing their huge economic potentialities in oil, land and rivers.

Backward conditions, insufficient funds, a need for trained help and capital investments, and lack of rainfall were blamed for the lag in economic development.

Seven-Year-Low In Cases Reported To State Clinics

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The Health Department today announced that a seven year low was reached during 1950 in the number of cases of infectious syphilis reporting to state clinics.

During the year, acting Secretary Russell E. Teague said, 3244 cases reported to the state's 109 clinics.

High-point in the seven-year-old program was 1947 when 8736 cases registered with state clinics.

The department did not speculate whether the case load decline reflected a general reduction in infectious syphilis.

A campaign has been launched by the department to round up persons who have been on the roster for five years and have not reported for further treatment.

Canadians See First Action In Korea Fighting

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Feb. 23 — (Friday) — Fresh American troops were thrown into battle and Canadian soldiers saw their first action Thursday as United Nations forces estimated at 90,000 men pressed a two-day old 60-mile wide offensive in Central Korea.

Five armored columns hammered over muddy roads in a gigantic pincers move aimed at wiping out possibly 40,000 Chinese and North Korean troops in the mountain area.

Gains of as much as 12 miles were made without opposition in one sector, but stubborn resistance of the enemy, combined with "general mud" slowed the "Killer offensive" in other sections.

PROFITS REDUCED

JEANNETTE, Pa.—Bad weather conditions that cut attendance at the Greensburg and McKeesport games, reduced profits of the Jeannette high school football season last year to $1,715. Receipts amounted to $19,711.

BLAST DAMAGES VILLA

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22—(INS)—Customers in the bar at the Italian Villa in Pittsburgh must have thought they were drinking potent stuff.

A charge of dynamite used on a nearby excavation job yesterday caused crashing rocks to rip several large holes in the roof and cracked the ceiling in the dining room and kitchen.

Although there were several patrons in the place at the time, no one was hurt.

Central Church Has Brotherhood Week Dinner Event

Central Christian church, long at Pennsylvania avenue, observed Brotherhood Week, with a brotherhood dinner on Wednesday evening, at 6:30 o'clock. The meeting opened with the singing of the Doxology followed by the invocation given by Thomas Phelps.

The delicious dinner was served by the deaconnesses of the church headed by Mrs. Charles Phelps. Following the dinner, the group sang several selections of fellowship and brotherhood.

The minister, James N. Rainey explained the purpose and plan of Brotherhood Week. The group stood in prayer for all mankind with Mrs. Norman Zeigler leading in prayer. George Bauman, chairman of the board, read an article on Brotherhood and gave comments concerning the greatness of fellowship.

Dave Lewis sang the "Blind Ploughman" and the companion number, "Reaping" accompanied by Evelyn Bernine at the piano. The guest speaker, Frank Buechley, pastor of the Beaver Falls Christian church spoke to the group on "Friendship". The underlying principal of brotherhood is friendship. To have a great brotherhood, there must be a friendship. Friendship is of Jesus. To be a friend, understand, appreciate and have a sympathetic spirit toward all men.

The pastor announced the compassion offering will be lifted Sunday, February 25 in Central church and will be a part of $1,500,000 to be used for relief and reconstruction. The meeting closed with a friendship circle and closed by prayer by Frank Buechley.

"People Are SO Funny"

Wampum Will Play East Washington In Class B First Round

Committee Sets Tuesday, Feb. 27 As Game Date

Indians Hold 1947 Win Over Opponents

Wampum high school, Section 23 champion, will meet East Washington, champion of Section 24, at Dormont Tuesday evening, Feb. 27, in the first round of the WPIAL class B playoffs.

Pairings for the class A and B playoffs were made Wednesday evening at the Roosevelt hotel in Pittsburgh, when representatives of the section winners met with the WPIAL basketball committee.

Should Wampum get by East Washington Tuesday they will meet Avalon in a second round game at Dormont on March 6. Avalon received a bye in the first round.

East Washington, perennial champion of its section, posted a 6-0 record in Section 24, the smallest section in the WPIAL.

Once before the Indians met East Washington in a basketball game. In the 1947 playoffs Wampum downed the ten tourney favorites 44-37 in the second round.

Class B Pairings

In other class B first round pairings the winner of the Springdale-Arnold (Sect. 14) game will meet Verona (Sect. 22); Shannock (Sect. 25) will meet Bell Township (Sect. 26). The winner of these tilts will meet in the quarter finals and will play the winner of the East Washington-Wampum-Avalon games in the semi-finals.

The other half of the class B first round pairings are as follows: Irwin (Sect. 17), bye; West Newton (Sect. 19) vs. winner of Jefferson-East Bethlehem (Sect. 20); Glassport (Sect. 18) vs. Verona (Sect. 22); winner of Bethlehem-Bridgeville (Sect. 15) vs. winner of McDonald-Robinson (Sect. 16).

Ban Fishing In County Streams

No Date Set For Trout Stocking

Fish Protector Robert Betts has commenced posting streams against fishing. This means there will be no fishing from March 15 to April 15, in any Lawrence county stream, whether or not it is stocked with trout.

The only available places to fish for suckers is in lakes and ponds not stocked with trout, and if trout are stocked in them, fishing is prohibited.

Betts stated he has not yet received any information from the State Fish commission at Harrisburg as to when trout will arrive for stocking.

Dick Pitzer Captures Section 23 Scoring Title With 232 Points

Dick Pitzer, Union township forward, won the 1951 Section 23 scoring championship with a total of 232 points in the 12 league games.

Dick succeeds Wampum's Don Schena as the scoring leader in the county class B WPIAL seeing. His 232 points is the sixth highest ever posted in a single season in the section and the highest in a 12-game season.

Pat Kerr, Eddie Marich, Bill Emery, Clyde Shaffer and Coy Craine all scored more than Pitzer in a single season, but in 14-game schedules. Emery's 267 points came in only 12 games, however, as he missed two of the Mounties' games in 1949.

Behind Pitzer was a close battle for second place in scoring between Caesar Craine of Wampum and Walt McGinnis of New Wilmington. Caesar scored one more point than Walt in the last game of the season and copped by that one-point margin.

Eddie Badger of Shenango edged out John McMillin of Wampum for fourth place and Johnny Allen of Shenango eked past Bob McKinley of Mt. Jackson for sixth position.

Only new member to the top 15 scorers during the last week of the season was Dave Boyd of New Wilmington, who scored 34 points during the week.

John McMillin posted the highest single game of the season with his 41 points against East Brook. Dick Pitzer scored 32 against Mt. Jackson and Clyde Cummins hit the 30 mark against Union.

Barons-Hornets Clash Tonight

(By International News Service)

The banged-up Cleveland Barons take on their "cousins" the Pittsburgh Hornets tonight in what will probably be another defensive battle between the top two goal tenders of the American Hockey League.

In other games, Springfield goes to Hershey, Buffalo to Providence and Indianapolis to St. Louis.

Springfield moved into third place tie in the Eastern division by whipping Providence, 5-1, last night while the Buffalo Bisons were shutting out Pittsburgh, 4-0.

Kentucky Declines Invitation To NIT

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 22.—(INS) — University of Kentucky spokesmen said today that an invitation to the NCAA Basketball Tourney probably will preclude a bide to play in Madison Square Garden's National Invitation Tournament.

Kentucky Athletic Director Bernie Shively contended that the basketball "fix" scandal would not alter "Kentucky's pleasant relations with the Garden" but that with a heavy basketball schedule ahead it was likely that the Blue Grass State would decline the NIT bid.

The designation of Ezzard Charles as the fighter of the year by Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring Magazine, the boxing Bible, will not find much dispute anywhere.

Quips, Steelers At Beaver Falls Friday Evening

Aliquippa and Farrell will play the rubber game of their (now necessary) three game series at the Beaver Falls gymnasium Friday evening.

Aliquippa (11-1) was beaten decisively at Farrell, 59-43, for their only league setback, but turned bacck the Steelers (11-1) at Aliquippa 52-47 to necessitate a playoff.

Farrell in season play has built up a 21-2 record and Aliquippa a 20-1 mark.

The team coming out on top in Friday's game will be an established favorite to walk off with the WPIAL crown.

Marion Motley Was Top Gainer

Cleveland Fullback Supplants Van Buren

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Final statistics released today showed that Marion Motley led the National Football League in ground-gaining last season.

The 238-pound Cleveland Browns' fullback supplanted Steve Van Buren, the Philadelphia Eagles' three-time champion, who slipped to seventh place.

Ripped Off 810 Yards

Averaging almost six yards a try, Motley ripped off 810 yards on 140 carries.

Frank Zeigler, Eagles halfback, finished second 87 yards behind Motley, but it took him 32 more hauls to do it.

The New York Giants, spearheaded by Eddie Price, shaded the Eagles for the team ground-gaining laurels, 2336 to 2328 yards.

Leading in touchdowns with 28 were the first-place Western Division club, the Los Angeles Rams.

NABF Will Meet In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The two-day convention of the National Amateur Baseball Federation opens in Pittsburgh tomorrow.

President William A. Moore of Louisville and Secretary Frank Novario of Cleveland will head the list of more than 40 delegates who will come from Ohio, Michigan, Alabama, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Kentucky, Indiana, Florida, Georgia, Massachusetts and New York.

Fears Is Named Pass-Receiving Champ Of NFL

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Tom Fears, Los Angeles end, was officially named 1950 pass-receiving champion of the National Football League today.

Fears caught 84 aerials, seven more than the record number he snared a year ago, to become the first receiver in league annals to win the title three times. He gained 1116 yards on the passes.

He chalked up another mark when eighteen of his receptions were made in one game, against Green Bay, to shatter a standard held by four players.

Dan Edwards, of the New York Yanks, finished second to Fears with 52 receptions and 775 yards. Third was Cloyce Box, of the Detroit Lions, with 50 catches and 1009 yards.

Bill Klem 77 Today, Battles Grim Reaper

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 22.—William J. (Bill) Klem is 77 years old today but the famed "old arbitrator" of the National league is too sick to celebrate.

For four months now, the man who has been widely acclaimed as the greatest umpire of them all has remained bedfast at his Miami Beach home, struggling to stay alive.

The veteran umpire is suffering from critical heart and kidney ailments from which there is little chance for recovery.

He was almost counted out a weeks back. Even his physician and close friend, Dr. S. D. W. Light, gave him only a couple of weeks to live, but Klem somehow managed to hang on.

Daily administering of oxygen has kept him going but doctors have little hope for him.

County League Umps Will Meet Friday

County League umpires will meet Friday night at 7:15 at the Y.M.C.A. it is announced by D. F. Hartman. All members are urged to attend because of important business to be discussed.

Optimists Cancel Cage Tournament

New Castle Optimist Club has cancelled its Annual County Basketball Tournament, scheduled for the week of March 5 at George Washington Junior High School, because of too few teams wishing to enter.

Only six teams expressed a desire to play in the tournament, which in past seasons proved very successful.

One of the reasons given for the failure of teams to enter was the attraction of out-of-town tournaments to local teams. Many of the county's top teams are entered in tournaments in other cities.

Teams that did express a desire to play in the local tournament were Princeton, Mt. Jackson, Bessemer, East Brook, Ecclesian Club and Universal.

Dirt Track Men To Meet March 4

DAYTON, O., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Delegates from a 36-state area, representing most of the nation's dirt track and speedway automobile racing, will meet Sunday, March 4, in Dayton to draft a 1951 schedule.

A meeting of the Contest Board of the Consolidated and Central States Racing Association will be held in conjunction with the get-together.

Seasonal Schedule

Primary concern of the confab will be to set the seasonal schedule for the Gold Crown Division, which operates minus engine limitations and the newly created Silver Crown Division where participation eligibility is limited to sized motors.

Representatives of prime midwestern racing sites will also be present seeking berths in CSRA. Sponsors of this group hope to complete the formation of a weekly midget circuit through Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio to operate under association sanction.

Dates for the series of strictly stock car events throughout 1951 will also be allotted March 4.

Monessen Wins Section 7 Title

Playoff Games To Start Friday

Monessen defeated Charleroi, 54-40, last night at Donora to clinch the Class A WPIAL Section 7 championship.

At the same time, the WPIAL Basketball committee last night mapped a schedule for tie playoffs in the various sections and scheduled the annual playoff games to begin tomorrow night.

There are two Class A ties to be settled, and five in Class B.

The championship game is scheduled to be played at Pitt stadium on March 14, with the PIAA regionals scheduled to get under way March 17.

QUESTIONS

1—Why are these names famous in sports history—Sheepshead Bay, Gravesend and Brighton Beach?

2—Which has the greatest normal seating capacity — Fenway Park or Braves Field, both in Boston?

3—The Davis Cup tennis trophy was first competed for and won by the United States in 1900. What team won in 1901?

HOOHEE?

I HELD the lightweight title twice — winning it from Tony Canzoneri in 1936, losing it to Henry Armstrong in 1938, winning it back from Henry the next year and then, in 1940, losing to Lew Jenkins. My real name — Louis D'Ambrosio. What's my ring name?

ANSWERS

1—They were horse race track (Hoohee: Lou Ambers)
2—Braves Field — 38,000, against Fenway Park's 35,000.
3—There were no Davis Cup matches in 1901.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

ON TOP OF the basketball scandal comes a report from Memphis, Tenn., of a fight in which Dallas Heavyweight Russell (Buddy) Scott testified that he took a "dive" in his bout with Oscar Buchanan in that city, November 21. Scott testified at the bribery trial of James Casone, termed by police as a gambler, and Promoter-Referee James Manley, that he rehearsed the "tank job" in the hotel suite of Casone. He went down for a three-round "knockout" in the Buchanan fight, who Scott was favored to beat. . . . According to Henry Jones, George Warren and George Hicks will meet in a match of three games at the Parkstown alleys tonight. . . . Lew Jenkins, former lightweight champion, who operated a car in Colorado Springs which fatally injured Corporal David I. Dexter, was exonerated. . . . Report Arrested Cage Stars May Turn State's Evidence

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Swift indictments were predicted today in the New York basketball "fix" scandal and sources close to the investigation indicated seven athletes arrested in the case may turn state's evidence.

Rumors that have persisted for several days of still more arrests to come — possibly involving a fourth New York college—recurred overnight despite the absence of any confirmation from official sources.

Players already seized in the probe of "thrown" games are from Long Island University, City College of New York, and New York University.

Sollazzo Is Culprit

But the principal target of District Attorney Frank Hogan, who said he expects bribery and conspiracy indictments in a week or ten days, is ex-convict Salvatore Sollazzo, the accused arch-fixer in the case.

Hogan's assistants delved into the books and bank records of the Jewelry manufacturer, his attractive brunette wife Jeanne and those of his brother Joseph.

Players Cooperating

Meanwhile, Jacob Grumet, a former assistant to Hogan, was retained as counsel for the three arrested city stars, Ed Roman, Ed Warner and Al Roth. Grumet, himself a CCNY grad, indicated that the youngster may turn state's evidence.

He said they were "cooperating one hundred per cent and will continue to cooperate" with the district attorney.

The three young men are accused of accepting bribes from Sollazzo, through an intermediary, Ed Gard, a former LIU player, to "throw" games during the current basketball season.

Also arrested were three LIU stars, Sherm White, Adolph Bigos and Leroy Smith, who have admitted taking money from Sollazzo to "shave" points both last season and this one.

Two in Jail

All six have been released under $15,000 bond. Sollazzo is being held without bail and Gard is being held in protective custody on his own request.

Also under arrest are NYU's Connie Schaff, who is accused of attempting to get a team-mate to throw a game, and Robert Sabatini, a man described as Sollazzo's gambling contact.

Tourney Starts March 10

Asa Bushnell, chairman of the National Invitation Tournament Selection Committee, said the tournament will be held at Madison Square Garden, March 10-17 as scheduled.

"After all," Bushnell declared, "college basketball is 99.44 per cent pure. I don't see why we should make drastic changes because of the minute fractional impure element."

Umpires Association Will Meet Friday

Lawrence County Umpires association will meet Friday night at 8:30 at the Y.M.C.A., it is announced by Joseph Panella, secretary.

Some very important matters are to be discussed, including the opening for new members. Persons interested in joining the association should either attend the meeting or make application.

Leroy Smith Says 'I'm All Confused'

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 22.—(INS)—"Follow the clean life at all times. Be honest. Always watch out for those shady characters."

This was the advice today by Leroy Smith, one of the Long Island University basketball stars under arrest for bribery in the big basketball scandal.

At his Newark home, Smith said:

"All of this just sort of happened to me. How, I don't know. I'm all confused now. I've caused my family a lot of trouble. I feel rotten about it."

Eddie Sawyer Thinks Jack Mayo Will Stick

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Manager Eddie Sawyer thinks outfielder Jackie Mayo the rookie most likely to succeed with the Philadelphia Phillies during 1951.

"He is fast, an excellent fielder and his arm is getting stronger every day," said Eddie. "If he can hit major league pitching in a satisfactory fashion he will stay."

Jackie, an alumnus of Youngstown, O., high and Notre Dame university, was recalled from Toronto last season and made eligible for the world series with the Phils.

Joe Louis Fights Walker In San Francisco Friday

By DON THACKREY
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—Ex-Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis no longer has his title, his speed or his youth but he still tops the field in one important respect—gate appeal.

Tomorrow night the 36-year-old boxer takes on a virtually unknown heavyweight named Anderson (Andy) Walker in a 10-round bout in San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Almost no one gives Walker a chance to win but the magic name of Joe Louis has made the contest a standing-room-only sellout. Even the promoters did not anticipate that.

Will Draw over 16,000

The fight originally was scheduled for the 7,800 capacity Civic Auditorium. But it was soon evident that tickets were going far faster than expected and the fight was moved to the Cow Palace which holds 16,000 fight fans.

Early this week all seats to the Cow Palace were sold. Yesterday the promoters, Lou Thomas and Jimmy Murray, were granted permission to sell 1,500 standing room ducats.

The gate receipts will come to something between $90,000 and $100,000 of which the Brown Bomber will get about $30,000. Walker is to pocket 12½ per cent of the net.

Hockey Games End In Ties

(By International News Service)

There were only two games played in the National Hockey league last night and both ended in ties. At New York, the Rangers and the Boston Bruins fought to a 2-2 tie. In Toronto the Maple Leafs and the Detroit Red Wings reached the same 2-2 score.

The deadlock between the Rangers and the Bruins left the New York team still in fourth place in the league standings, one point behind the Bruins.

In Toronto, the league-leading Red Wings maintained their five-point lead over the Maple Leafs as a result of the stand-off.

LIU Lauds Vast Majority Of Young Athletes Of Today

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—College sports authorities turned aside from counting the rotten apples in their barrel to laud the honesty of the vast majority of young athletes today.

Trustees of Long Island University, although withdrawing LIU from all intercollegiate competition, said:

"We have unbounded faith in the integrity and honesty of the vast majority of those who participate in competitive sports at our university and the other athletes throughout the country. It is unfortunate that the few who are weak cast a shadow on the many."

Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference, observed:

"Unfortunately, in our horror at the corruption of a few 'fixers' we forget the millions of honest players in our colleges."

Pirates Assign Rookies To Farms

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates today signed three young players and assigned them to farm clubs for the 1951 season.

Shortstop Gene Vandervort, 19, of Carmel, Calif., and pitcher Leonard G. Bierman, 18, of Hillside, N. J., will join the Bartlesville, Okla., club.

Kenneth Barbao, 19, of Donora, Pa., will join Mayfield, Ky., as a pitcher-outfielder.

Man Accused Of Falsely Posing As Medal Winner

MIAMI, Feb. 22.—(INS)—A 27-year-old New Yorker who won an imposing array of decorations in World War II but ended up as a private was accused by the FBI today of impersonating a lieutenant colonel and falsely posing as a Congressional Medal of Honor winner.

Agents arrested Stuart Sherman Fisher III, son of a New York diamond merchant, in a swank Palm Beach hotel yesterday and brought him to Miami for a hearing March 1. His bond was set at $1,000.

Edmund Maso, agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, said Fisher was wearing civilian clothes when arrested but agents found two uniforms bearing lieutenant colonel's insignia in his room.

Mason said Fisher told how he started on his glory tour last November and recounted his deeds as a Congressional Medal winner to awed audiences in expensive hotels in Chicago, Denver, Washington, New York and Palm Beach.

Although he never won the Congressional Medal, Fisher actaly earned the Distinguished Service Cross, the Purple Heart, and the Bronze Star as an enlisted man in the last war.

Dykes Has Praise For Joe Coleman

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 22.—(INS)—Pitcher Joe Coleman, who lost five and won none last season, appeared to be headed for the comeback trail at the Philadelphia Athletics' training camp today.

"It's a pleasure to watch him," said manager Jimmy Dykes. "I think Joe's throwing harder now than he did at any time last year."

The winning combination at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway last year will be reunited for the 35th annual 500-mile automobile race at the famous Hoosier oval on May 30. Driver Johnny Parsons of Van Nuys, Cal.; car owner Ed Walsh of St. Louis, Mo., and chief mechanic Harry Stephens of Sherman Oaks, Cal., will defend their honors in the 1951 speed classic.

to the East City line of the City of New Castle.

All of the lines of the said Street are shown on a map of the same, which has been prepared by the City Engineer, consisting of twelve (12) sheets and marked Drawing No. 2694, and on file in the Office of the City Engineer. The said Street, as located, shall be placed on the General Map of the City of New Castle forthwith.

SECTION 2. The location of the said Street shall not authorize the City to enter upon or appropriate any of the property, within such located highway, (except property owned by the City of New Castle) which has not been heretofore opened or used for highway purposes, nor shall the said location of the said street interfere in any way with the rights of the owners of the several properties to the full use of such property, except as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 3. No person shall recover any damages for the taking for public use of any buildings or improvements, which shall be constructed within the lines of the said located highway as herein designated, after this Ordinance has been passed and becomes effective, and when such building or improvement is built within the established limits of the said highway after the passage of this Ordinance, it shall be removed at the expense of the owner, if and when the necessary Ordinances have been passed by the City providing for the opening of the portions of the said street on which any such improvements have been made.

SECTION 4. When, at any time in the future, it shall become necessary in the discretion of the City of New Castle or of the State Highway Department to open any part or all of the street hereby established, ordained and located, the City of New Castle may adopt, and if it desires to open the said Street shall adopt, the necessary ordinances authorizing such opening and condemning the land necessary to be taken for such opening, with all improvements on the said land which were in existence at the time of the passage of this Ordinance.

SECTION 5. If at any time after the passage of this Ordinance, and before the street hereby ordained, established and located shall be opened, the City of New Castle shall desire to do so, it may compromise with any or all of the owners of the land affected by this Ordinance for the condemnation, taking and purchase of the same and settle any or all such claims by taking Deeds from the several property owners, which Deeds shall be prepared by the City Solicitor and contain full releases of all claims which the several property owners may have on account of the ordination and/or opening of the said street, and the Council shall provide for the payment of all such claims at the time such settlements are consumated.

SECTION 6. That as soon as this Ordinance shall become effective, the City Clerk shall send to the owners of each of the properties affected by this Ordinance a copy thereof, with a notice that the same was passed and the date upon which it become effective. The said Ordinances shall be mailed by registered mail, and where there is more than one registered owner of any property, the Ordinance shall be mailed
(1) To the owner in possession, if any;
(2) To any co-tenant in case of a tenancy in common;
(3) To the owner of a life estate, if any;
(4) To the administrator or executor of a decedent's estate in which title to the said property stands;
(5) To any known heir of a decendent, where there is no executor or administrator;
(6) To the person or persons who last paid taxes on the said property either as owner or as agent for an owner.

SECTION 7. That this Ordinance shall not reduce the width of any street heretofore ordained, established, widened, located, opened or used, and over which the street hereby ordained shall or does pass.

JACK H. FRITZ, City Clerk.

Army Flyer's Daring Rescue Of Downed Pilot In Korea

By ROBERT SCHAKNE

ON CENTRAL FRONT, Korea, Feb. 22.—(INS)—An army flyer braved enemy small arms fire to land his Piper Cub on a 400-foot long sand bank Wednesday and saved the life of a navy Corsair pilot shot down by Red troops in central Korea.

Capt. John Olihovik, of Worcester, Mass., a 32-year-old army reconnaissance flyer, rescued navy pilot Lieut. Commander Jarred Lake within one hour after the Corsair crashed and exploded in the Chuchon river.

Capt. Olihovik was on the ground at his home base and received a silver star just one hour after he was summoned to the rescue mission.

Lake, whose home town was not available, was reported unhurt. He was flying a Corsair from the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea along with three other navy planes on a mission over the blazing east central front.

Hit Ground—Exploded

When the navy craft was hit by machinegun fire, the pilot struggled to bring it down on a sandbank in the dry Chuchon river bed. The plane hit the ground and exploded.

Olihovik received a call at 3:30 p.m. and was told a navy plane had been shot down. The captain climbed into his Piper Cub and was on his way.

He said:

"I flew up to the general area where the plane was supposed to have crashed. I got down to 500 feet and circled three times before I saw the wreckage with the fighter pilot sitting there looking dazed.

"I got my plane down on a sand strip that was about 400 feet long and went over to the navy flyer.

"That was the shortest strip I've ever landed on but luckily the sand was firm. But we had to sweat it out getting off. I just barely made it.

"When I got down on the ground, I couldn't see any enemy, but there were people standing on a hill nearby. I thought they were civilians because they watched the pilot lying there and did nothing"

When Olihovik returned to his own airstrip with Commander Lake aboard, other pilots found bullet holes scattered over the fuselage of his light two-seater Cub.

A general officer who awarded Olihovik his silver star told him: "You can be my pilot anytime."

The captain's single comment when he saw the bullet holes in his plane was "Well, I'll be damned."

The guide pilot who showed Olihovik to the crash scene radioed: "If that army boy was near me right now I'd kiss him."

Brig. Gen. Bradley Named Commander Of Korea Division

EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The Eighth army announced that Brig Gen. Joseph S. Bradley has been appointed to succeed Maj. Gen. William Kean as commander of the 25th division, now fighting in Korea.

Gen. Bradley was formerly assistant division commander.

Kean is returning to the United States to take command of the Third Army Corps with headquarters at Camp Roberts, Cal.

American Casualties In Korea Now 49,132

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS)—The Defense Department official total of American casualties in Korea today rose to 49,132, an increase of 1,057 over last week.

The new list includes 7,408 killed in action; 32,230 wounded, of whom 853 have died; and 9,494 missing.

The army has suffered 40,449 casualties, the marine corps 7,687 the navy 592 and the air force 404.

The official list is made up of casualties where next of kin have been notified, and lags about three weeks behind the actual casualties in Korea.

There are more than 700 million cattle in the world.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

New York, Feb. 22—(INS)—A woman can have "dash"—on very little cash—by making a few sparkling additions to last year's gloves.

Spring and summer gloves, 1951, are dolled up with flowers, beads, sparkle and fancy stitching.

Any really smart woman can achieve the chic effect with a needle, 50-cents worth of trimming from the five-and-dime, and an hour's leisure time.

Most popular, and copy-able of the new gloves, are white or navy cottons with tiny artificial posies whipped around their cuffs; little sparkling buttons stitched in scattered confusion to the glove back; baby beads sewn in rows down the finger backs, or rick-rack anchored in ruffly rows around the wrist.

VAULT CENTER

COLUMBUS — Ohio manufactures about two-thirds of all the safes and vaults produced annually in the United States.

Youth Of 13 Years Is Out Of Army; Returns To School

NEW YORK, Feb. 22—(INS)—It's back to school Monday for ex-Private George Raymundo, Jr., who wanted to help win the war in Korea.

George, who got several weeks of basic training under his belt before the army learned he was but 13 years old, and not 18 as he claimed, returned home last night to a mild parental scolding—and a party.

He was firmly informed that Monday he goes back to the eighth grade in public school 148, and George said, "That's swell, better than the army."

"But don't get me wrong," cautioned the young-old veteran. "The army is okay. I'll re-enlist when I'm 17."

SPUD SPOILAGE

PORTLAND — Several million bushels of potatoes are lost every year as a result of sprout growth in storage.
